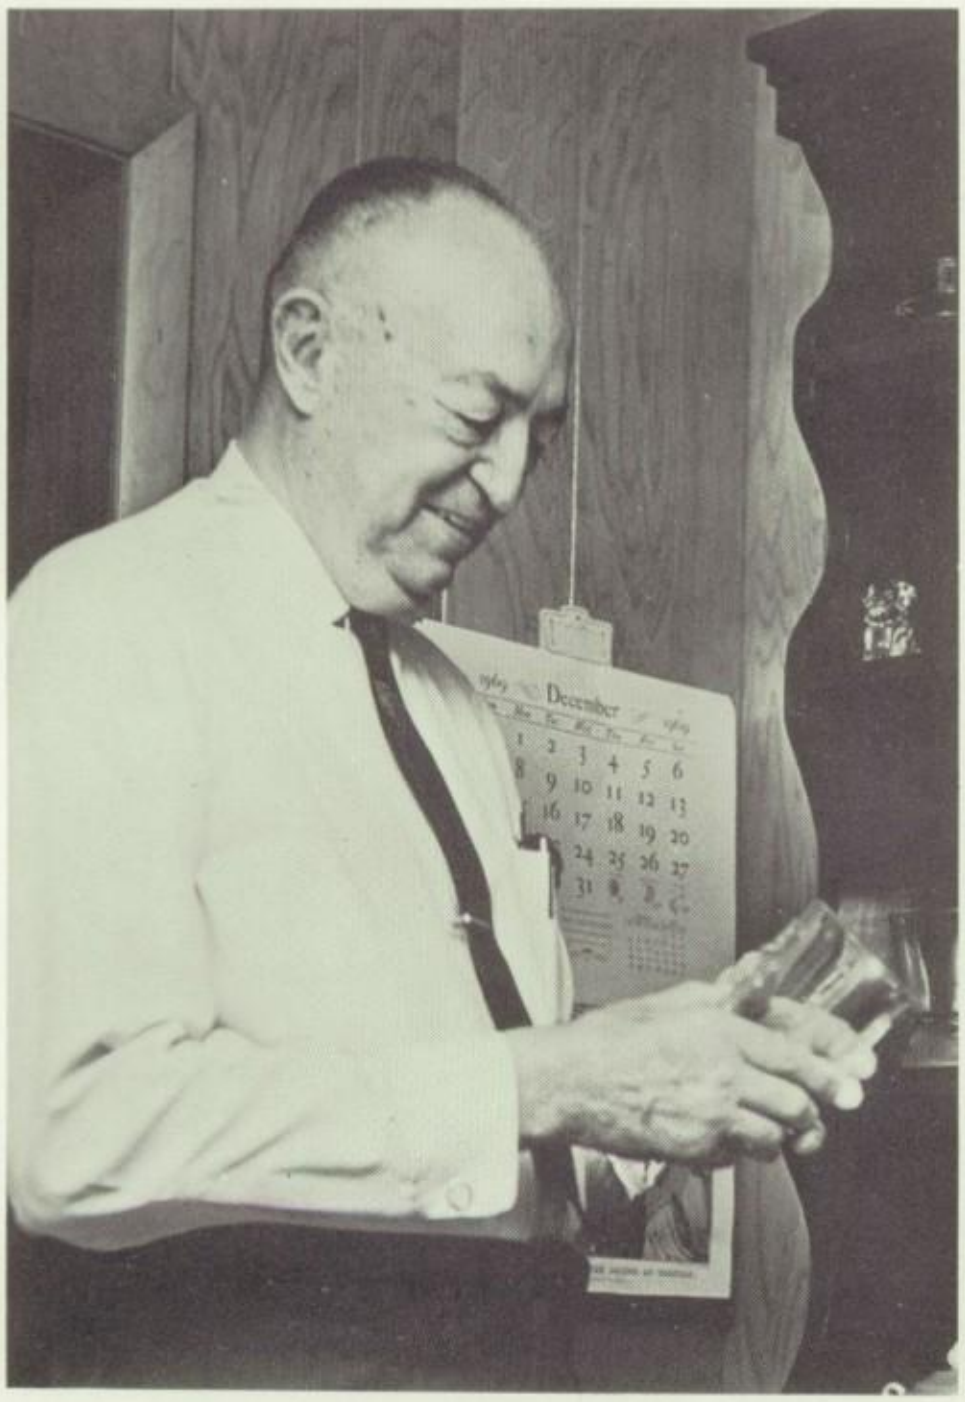
TABLE OF CONTENTS

Dedication

E. A. Markey



Mr. Markey's career began at Northeast High School where he coached football for 19 years. During this period of time he was considered one of the most "winning coaches" in Kansas City. For his outstanding accomplishments in coaching, he was awarded a trophy from Knute Rockne which acclaimed him as an "Outstanding Prep Coach."

Following a year in the administrative office downtown, as physical education consultant, he became vice-principal at Northeast, where he served until the fall of 1963 when he came to East as vice-principal.

At East his sportsmanlike attitude spread to all aspects of his service to East. He seemed always interested in the operation of the school and of the individual student, thus helping to promote a good student-faculty relationship.

As a result of his undying interest and admiration of the East High student, he found himself deeply rooted in the hearts of all those to whom he gave an outstretched hand.

With these thoughts in mind, we have dedicated this yearbook to you, Mr. Markey.

Foreword

1969-70 will undoubtedly be a year long remembered after volume 44 of our Eastonian has been laid aside. Not only did it close out the sizzling sixties; it saw the fires lighted to open the roaring seventies.

This has been a year of protest. From the opening of school until its close, there has been a constant tension not only in the halls, but in the class rooms as well. With an 0-10 record in football, a 2-16 record in basketball, and threatened boycotts in track, school morale faded to its lowest levels as many students led protests against the administration, the faculty, other students, their parents, and the establishment in general.

Closing of school several days in September, expulsion of several students, and dissatisfaction with school in general all contributed to a general feeling of bewilderment and apathy. Many students withdrew, others dropped out, but the large majority clung desperately to their loyalties, and tried to keep school activities moving in a somewhat normal way.

Racial unrest again broke out in March, causing several days of very little school. Calmer heads tried to keep the situation "cool", but with great difficulty, classes struggled along. Demands were made of the administration, the school board, the student government, and everyone in general; some changes were made; others seemed impossible to effect.

In spite of constant tension, many activities continued. Lit clubs met rather haphazardly, queens were selected, the Echo covered the news, and plans for lit contest moved ahead. Most seniors began to look forward to "getting out of the mess". With frequent fights in the halls and classrooms, as well as on the way to and from school, additional security guards were hired to patrol the building and grounds.

Many hoped that the creation of a new eleven member board of education would help the situation; However, even though the symptoms and causes of the unrest were recognized and considered, the cure was not so easy to come by. Faculty members, often the target of student resentment, found it more difficult to maintain order in class, and undoubtedly began to count the days until the close of school. Some left before the end of the term.

We, the Eastonian staff, feel that we have at times faced nearly unsurmountable obstacles as we attempted to meet deadlines and maintain quality of production so we could give you, the student body, a yearbook of which you could be proud. Our first failure was in not being able to assemble the '69 supplement; Riots and general confusion prevented this. Then our studio camera was stolen; we lost two weeks of valuable time before it was returned. As we close out the final pages of this, our 1970 Eastonian, we are not sure whether it will be on time. Even though this was to be "our year", it certainly has not been. We can only hope that the rest of the '70's will go more smoothly.

All of us love our school; we shall cherish the memories of our years at East. We shall try to remember the good things that happened, and hope that time will erase memories of the bad ones. To the class of '71 and future senior classes we wish much success, and hope that they will find the way to accomplishment of their goals.

FACULTY

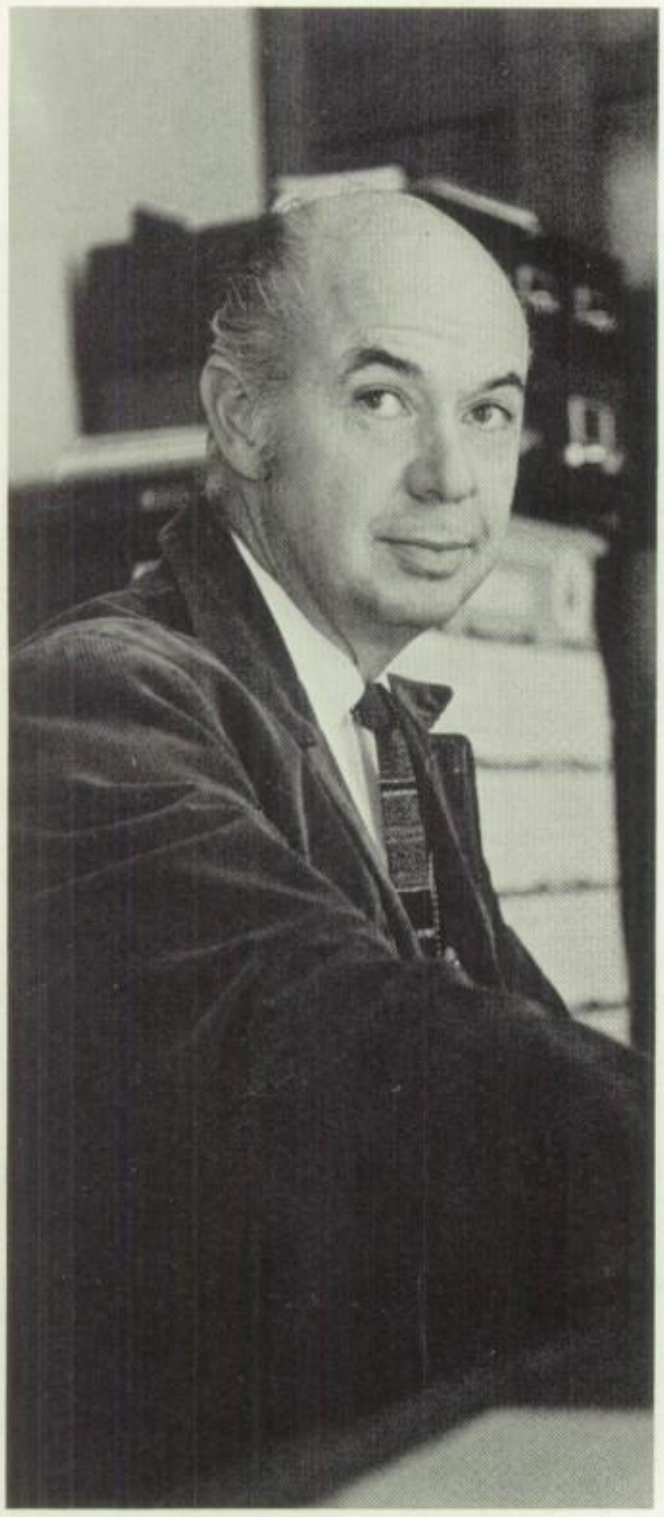
Success As Principal Is Attributed to Many Years of Experience

L. Clayton Dickson Principal

Since 1964, East High School, on the whole, has been directed most successfully by Principal L. Clayton Dickson. In every school, there are always different individual responsibilities and problems in many different situations that each school faces. These problems and responsibilities of East High School are a main concern of Mr. Dickson's.

Some of these may come under the heading of: the School Policy Formation, Discipline and Counseling of student, Orientation of New Teachers, Inter-School Liason, and the Curriculum Development. Building Expansion, School Organization, and the faculty meetings are more of Mr. Dickson's concern.

With all these responsibilities, too numerous to name them all, Mr. Dickson has proven he is a loyal supporter of East High School and is doing all he can to help it progress, completely excluding "the tragic times of crisis" never to return again.



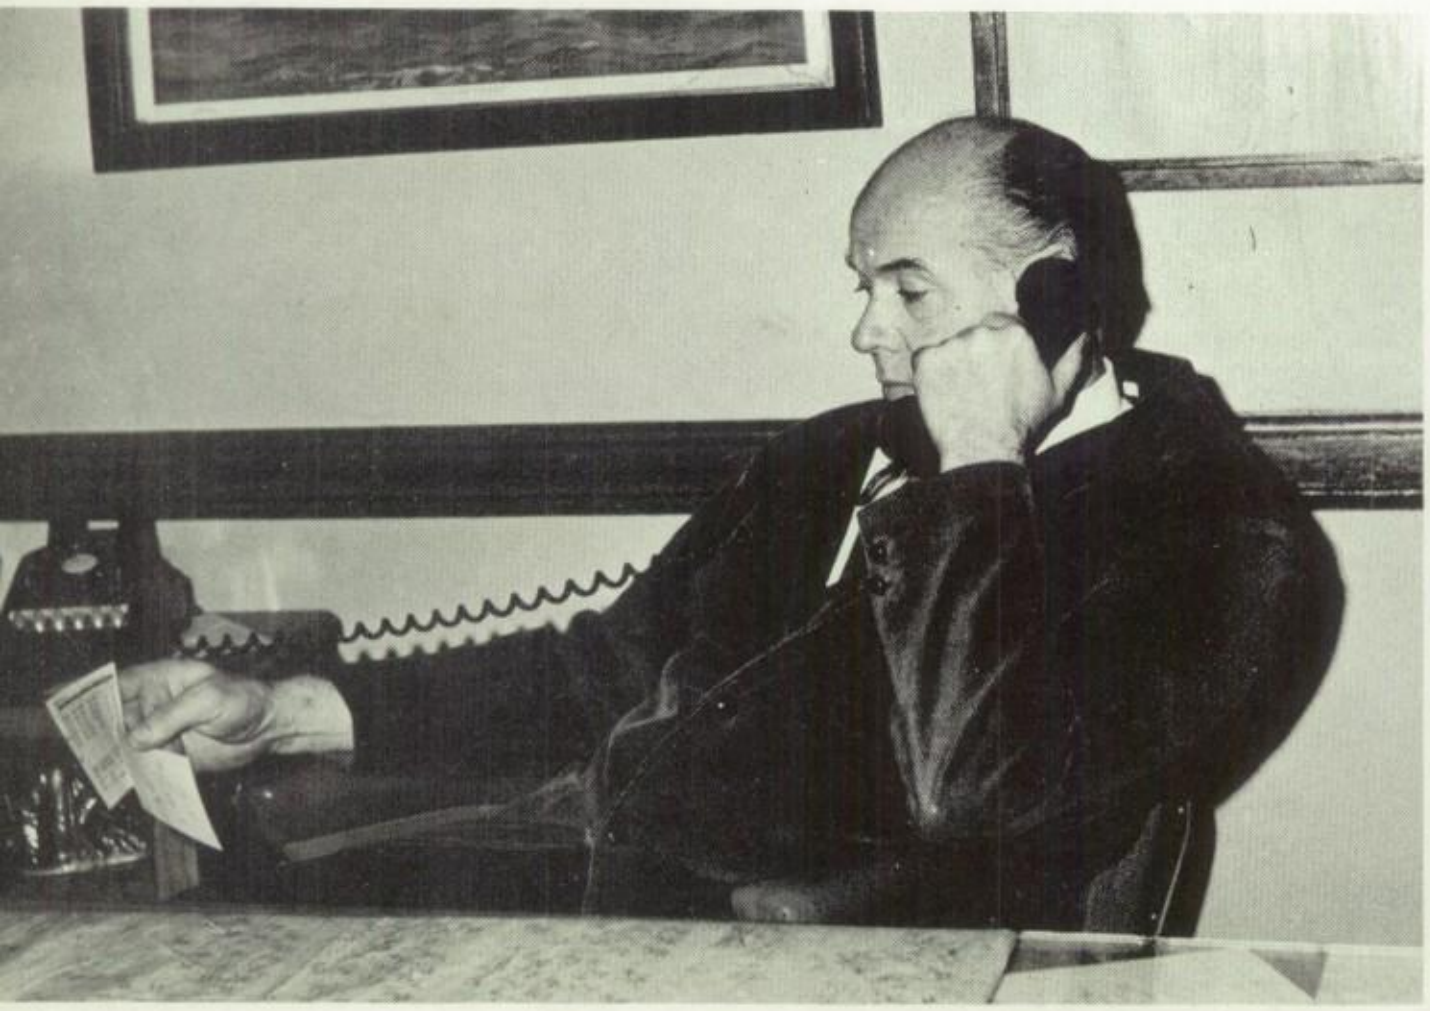
William T. Ridley–Vice Principal

When he first came to East twenty years ago, Mr. William Ridley taught American and World History, civics, world geography, and family living. He left East for three years becoming Vice Principal at Paseo High School. Returning to East, Mr. Ridley became Vice Principal here, a position he now holds.

As Vice Principal, some of Mr. Ridley's many duties are assigning students schedules, placing teachers in the proper classes, supervising proctors and the cafeteria, and checking on the discipline of the sophomores, juniors, and seniors.

Mr. Ridley attended St. Joseph Junior college, and U.M.K.C. schools of law and education. His undergraduate major was political science, and his graduate major was administration.

Mr. Ridley's hobbies consist mainly of wood carving and sculpture. He has perfected these hobbies well enough to have shown some of his work in art shows throughout the city.



As Vice-Principal, Marvin Brooks Comes to East

In his first year as vice-principal, Mr. Brooks was in charge of busing, home lunch permits, school cafeteria, and fire drills.

Mr. Brooks is a graduate of Lincoln High School and received his Bachelor's degree from Park College. He also attended Missouri University, U.C.L.A., and U.M.K.C. While in the army, he attended the Free University of West Berlin, Germany, studying German.

Mr. Brooks' first teaching job was in the army teaching Spanish soldiers to speak English. Following this, he taught at Central Jr. and Senior High School and Westport, immediately before coming to East.

In his spare time, Mr. Brooks enjoys reading, creative writing, checkers, and cards. He often fills speaking engagements.

He enjoys teaching because he feels he has better personal contact with all students.

A listening Richard Mayfield studies a students problem.

Counselors Offer Guidance to Students

Mrs. Taylor, secretary, helps counselors with appointments and records.

Counselors

Getting students enrolled and preparing them for further education were the highlights outlining the activities of the East High School counselors.

Students with problems always know they can go to their counselor for understanding advice. Most of the students relied on the counselor for help with program schedules, personal and family problems.

The counselor often acted as parents to the students while away from home, giving good sound advice.

Students enjoyed having a conference or two every now and then with their counselor, mainly because they need it. All agreed that guidance from the proper authority does pay off.

Counselor Paul Schlesselman checks office for pending appointments.

A thoughtful break is taken by Counselor Genevieve Scott.

Keeping up with school happenings is Mrs. Thompson, Counselor.

Office

The familiar sounds of the punching of typewriter keys or the rapid movement of a pen writing t a r d y excuses were most often heard by a visitor in the o f f i c e. These sounds were made by the five important ladies who efficiently run the office of East High School. They are Mrs. Helen Watson, register secretary, Mrs. Clarice Crosby, attendance secretary, Sarah Schmalz, financial secretary, Lucille Hulsey, IBM secretary, and last, but not least Norine Black, book clerk secretary. With the employment of these hardworkers, the students and faculty of East should never worry about the way in which our office is run.

Library

If you had walked into the East High Library this year, you would have discovered several new smiling faces in charge. They were Pat Suell, branch librarian, Betty Price, adult assistant, Margaret Craig, children's library, and Diane Mather, librarian assistant to the children's library. The East Library staff this year was always friendly and ready to lend a helping hand to any puzzled student requiring help.

Our library is open for public use, from 9—9 Monday and Tuesday and 9—5 Wednesday to Saturday. It is however, open to students at 8:00 on school days. And any student needing assistance with the finding of a particular book or material on a research paper was usually satisfied with the librarian's efforts. This year with the help of pages, Janna Goddard, Paul Frizzell and Mary Davenport the East High Library has continued to run smoothly as in the years past.

Can you imagine serving a meal to over 1850 students and faculty in a single day? Every school day, the staff plans a well-balanced meal for faculty and students. Though they were not as financially equipped as in former years, they still satisfied the people of East with their undying efforts.

Custodians Maintain Neatness

The staff that deserves a lot of credit for keeping East High School clean and orderly is next. In order to prepare the school for students, custodians have to arrive early in the morning to turn on the lights, and start the boiler. Their work doesn't end here, for all through the day, and after school too, the custodians are busy helping to keep East in a clean and spotless condition.

The PTA's objective this year was to promote the welfare of students in school, and the community.

Working with various school and community organizations, the PTA established an East Community Organization group which has met every Monday night since last September.

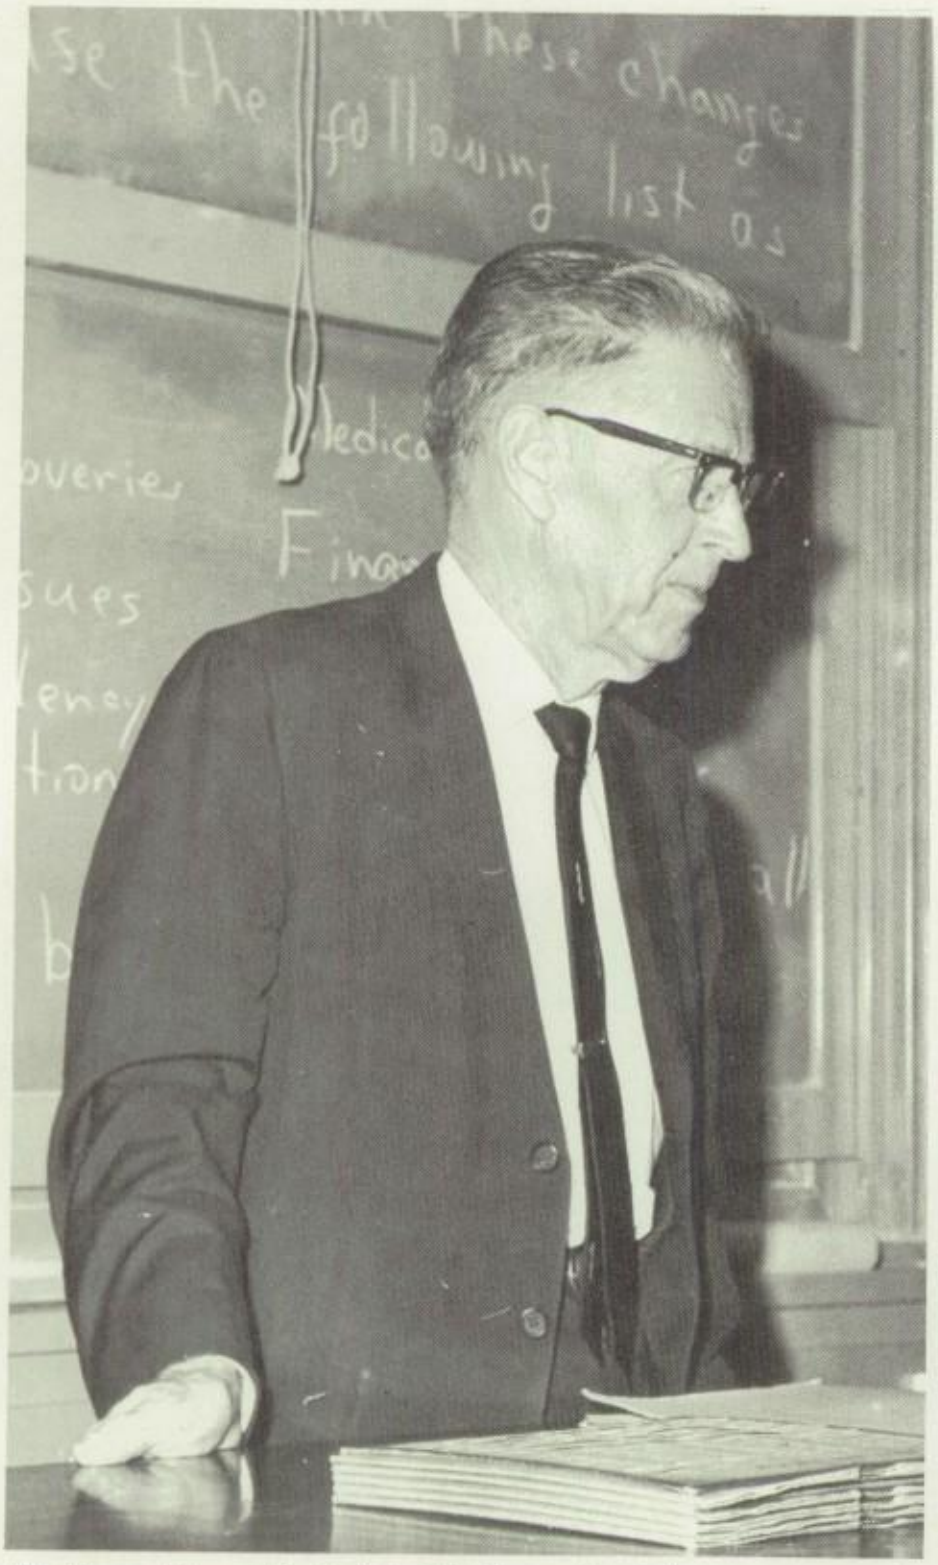
Many hours were spent at home and at the Mutual Help Center sewing for needy students. Contributions were also made to scholarship funds for worthy students.

Mr. Stoops explains the basic principles of chemical formulas to an attentive student.

"Here's East," says Mr. Mallot as he points to the map while teaching Earth Science.

Students Use for "Giant Leap"

Mrs. Wright explains a scientific process to her General Science class.



Mr. Day watches as his students take time out to study.

"It's all blurry," says a student, as Mr. LaSalle looks on.

Mr. Nichols conducts one of many lectures for his Human Science class.

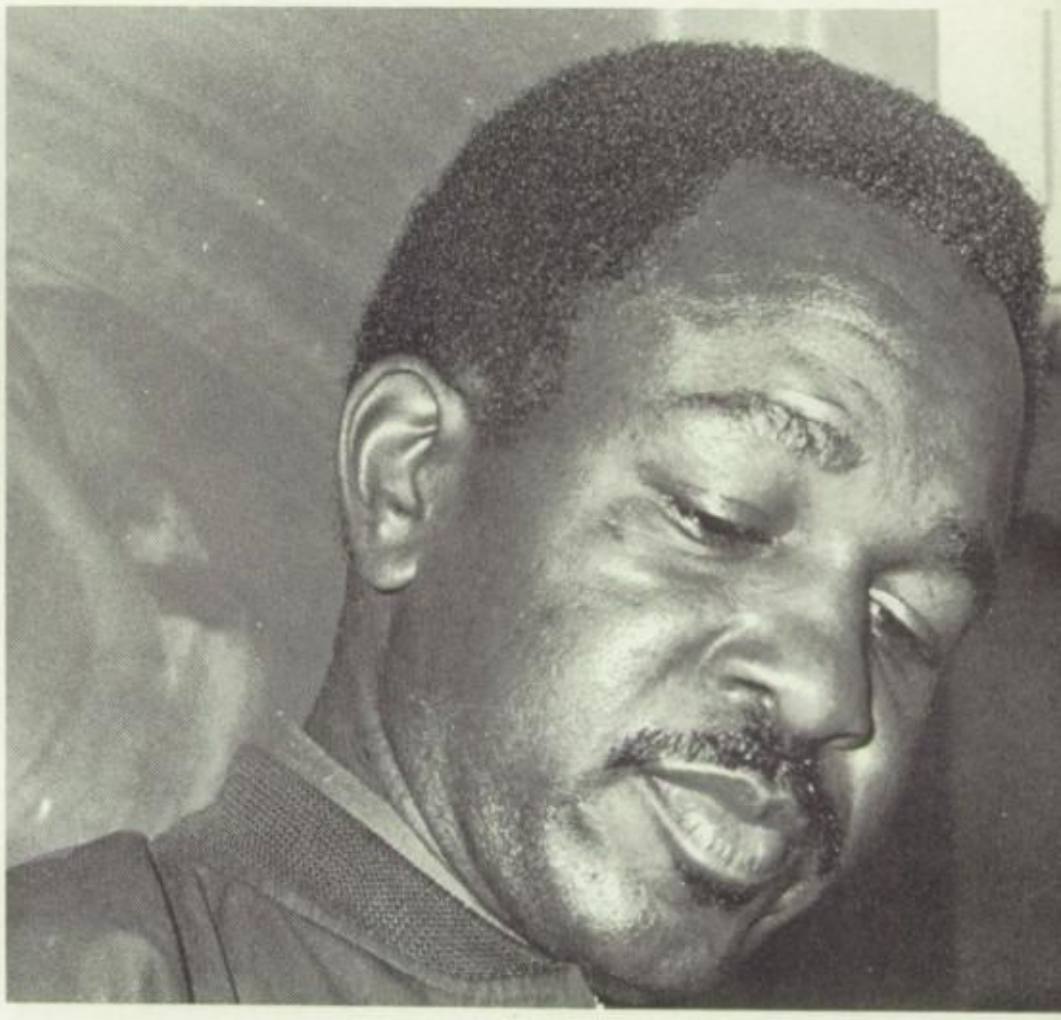
Scientific Knowledge into Future

The 60's are gone; but many memories linger on. For instance, there were several heart transplants, experiments, and discoveries on how to control dreaded diseases, particularly leukemia, and last but not least, that thrilling moment when man first sank his boot into alien soil on the Sea of Tranquility.

These are only a few examples of the tremendous need for an education in the field of science. Many students realized this and participated in our excellent science program. The classes which were offered are general science, physics, P.S.S.C., chemistry, general and advanced biology, human science, and horticulture.

As we begin the 70's we can only wonder what new changes lie ahead in the progress of man.

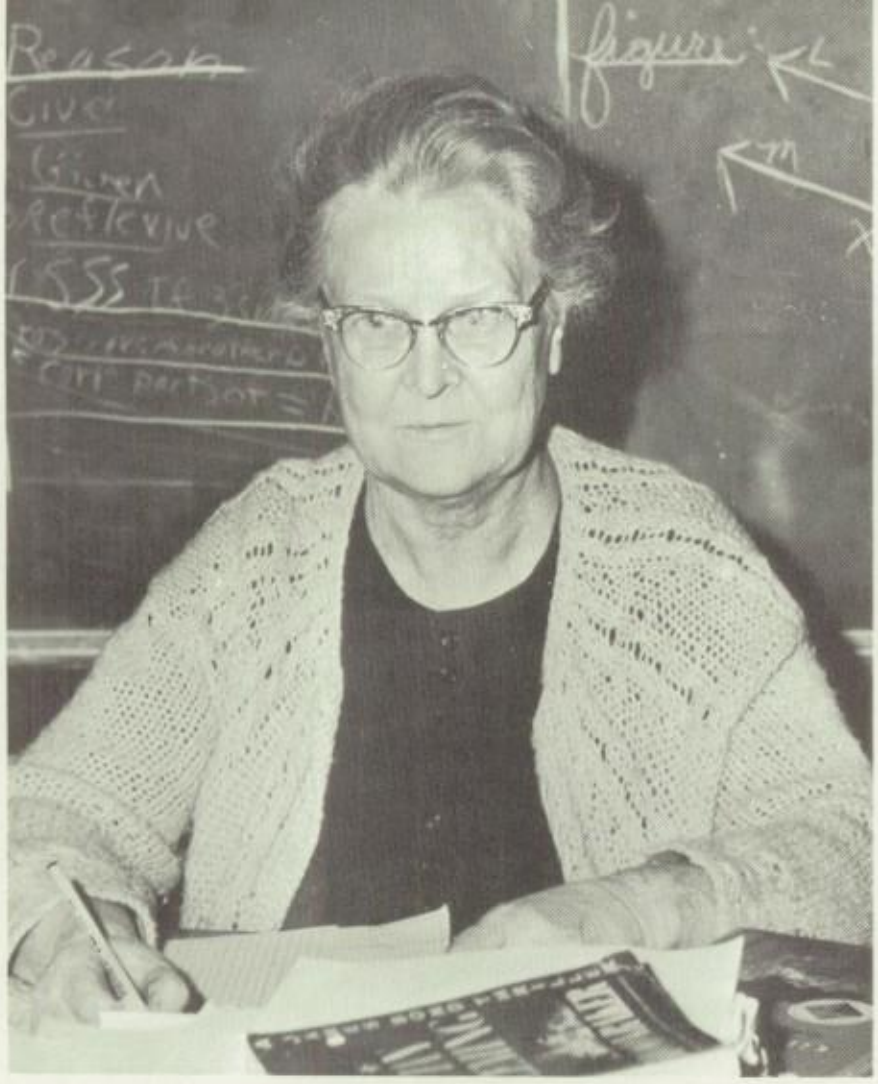
"You haven't even got it focused," says Mr. Holder to a puzzled student.



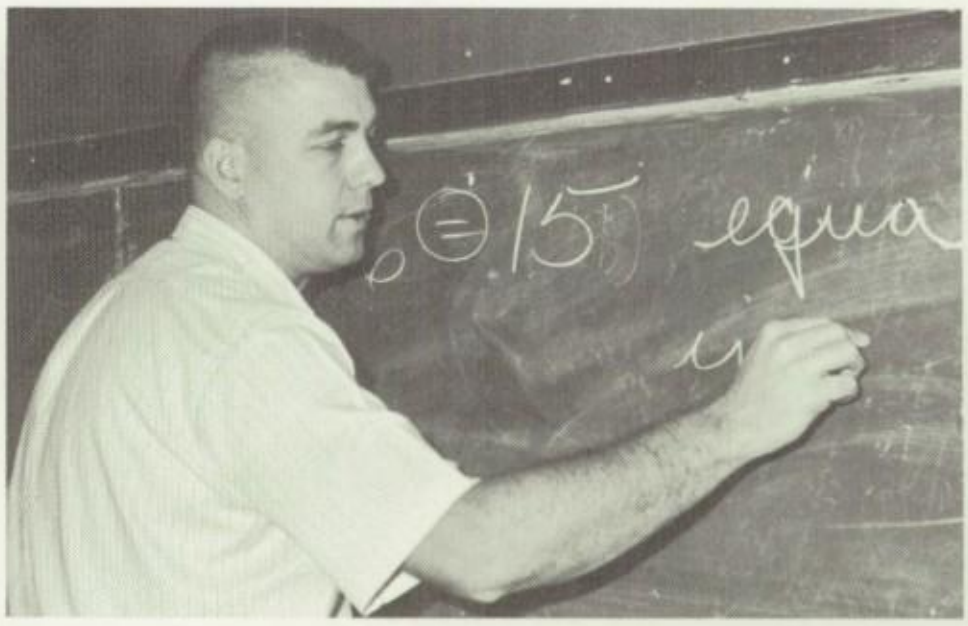
Mr. Williams looks down at a group of students working with the balance scales.

Happy with the outcome of an experiment, Mr. Stiegler gives an approving smile.

Math Proves Helpful



Looking up from her attendance book, Mrs. Zickefoose scans the room for a missing student.

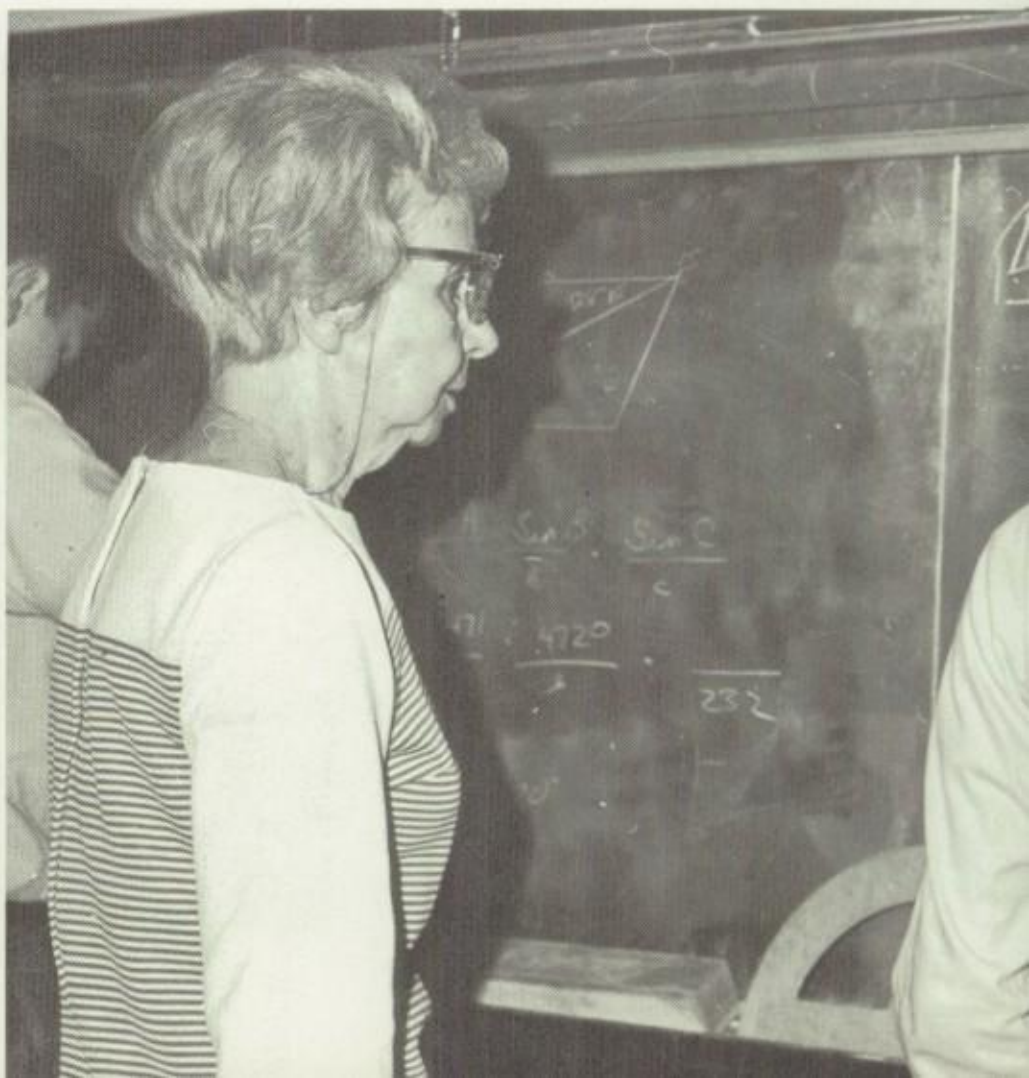


Mr. King finds that boardwork increases the interest of his students in math.

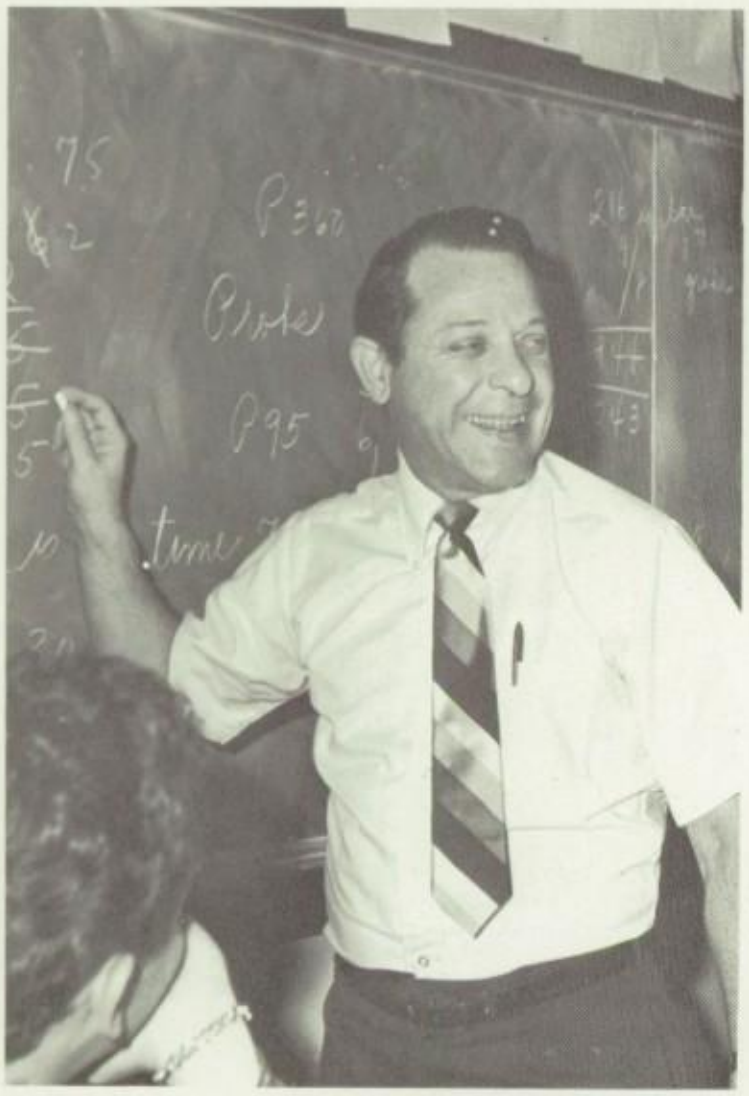
In this day and age with all our modern developments, such as computers, some people have forgotten the need for a mathematics education. However, many students realize the importance of mathematics, and take more than the required one year. Classes offered were General Math, Refresher Math, Algebra, Geometry, Advanced Algebra and Trigonometry, and Senior Advanced Math. In these classes, students learn how to solve equations and theorems plus basic fundamentals that will prove helpful in advanced courses and possible careers.

Mr. Smart takes a personal interest in one of his troubled math students.

In Senior Math, Mrs. Barndt feels that every student should find his own solution.



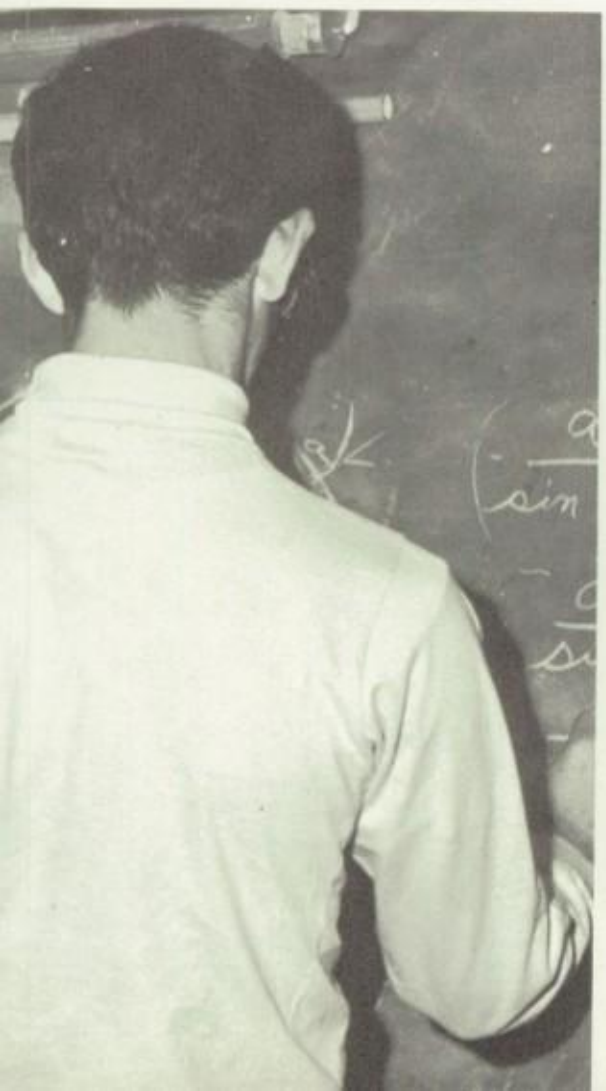
...in Possible Careers



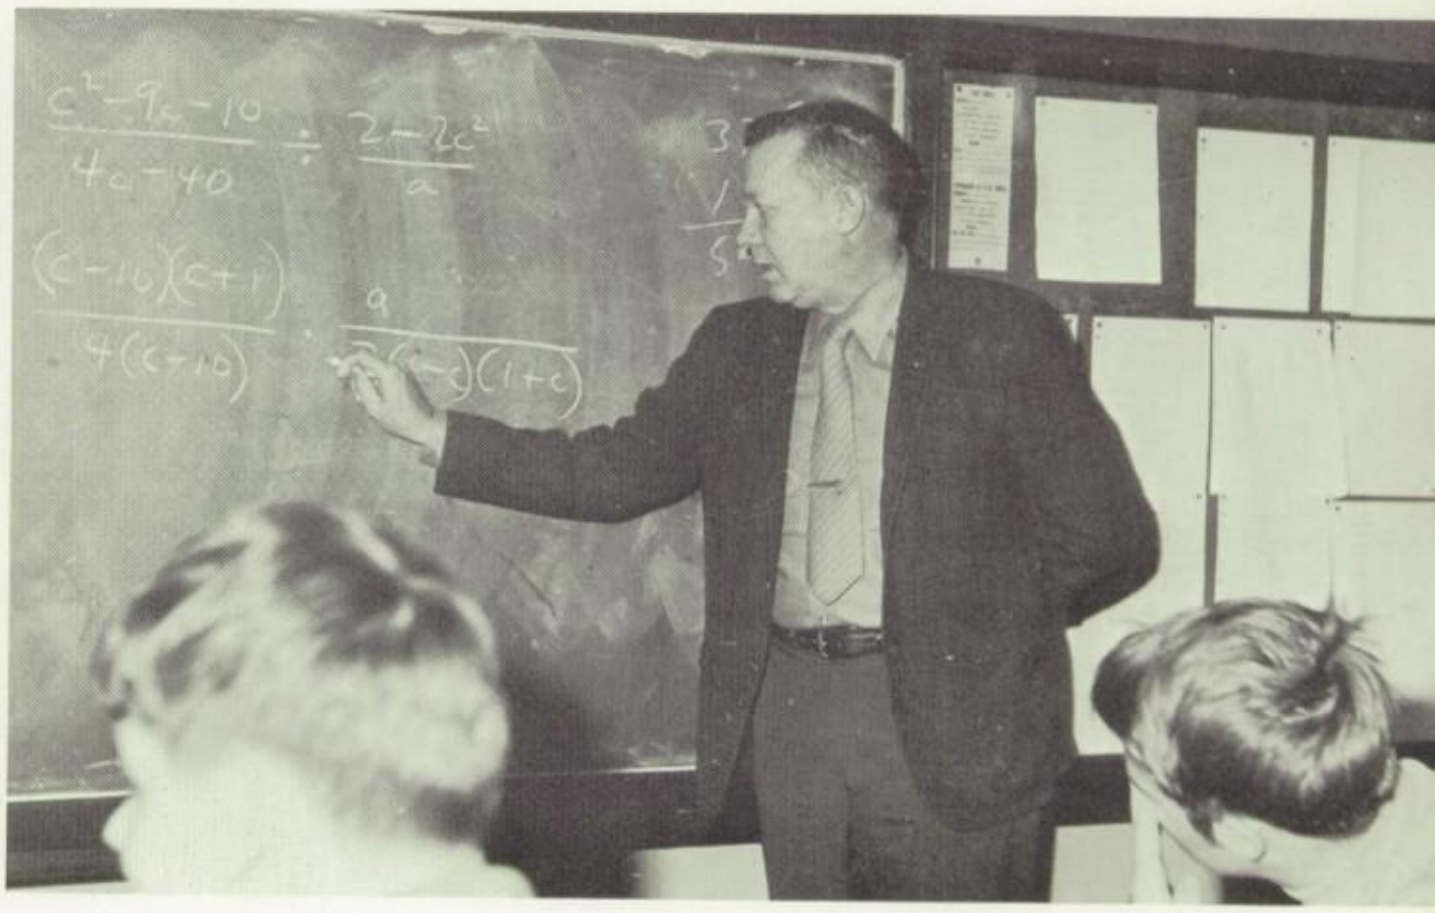
Mr. Cohen finds that even in math, there is a place for humor.

Student's Explanations of math problems sometimes strike Mr. Mitchell as humorous.

Mr. West prepares a quiz for his refresher math class.



Preparing students for Advanced Mathematics is Mr. Hommes' goal.



Most helpful to everyone, Mr. Sears strolls again.

The globe serves as a valuable aid in teaching to Miss Cate.

Here we have a single of Mr. Sears, we wanted you to see the profile.

"Kids, make me happy" Mr. Smith says.

Mrs. Reimon waits patiently as the last students come into the room.

"School could definitely be easier", Mr. McCarty seems to say.

HISTORY or studies dealing with human behavior are an important part of the curriculum at East. These studies give insight into what makes men and their societies live, East offers courses in Civics, American History, World History, World Geography, Current Affairs, Family Affairs, Family Relations, and a new course this year in Black History. The two first courses are compulsory and an elective of one of the others is required for graduation.

As well as having a variety of History courses at East we also have on the faculty a number of fine teachers. These teachers offer many differed opinions. On which the students interest is whetted, this leads to pupils exercising their minds in search of the truth. For this we are grateful to the teachers of East.

English

A student at East must complete three years of English and if he wishes he may take a fourth year. During this time he learns the basics of grammar and our language. Writing stories, poems and essays is also of importance. In Speech, the student puts into practice his ability to express his thoughts to other people. He is also able to use his writing abilities by preparing the speeches he gives.

Foreign Language

After the student has learned the basic fundamentals of the English language he may progress to a foreign language. They learn not only the language but the customs and the history of the country. Under the supervision of Mrs. Donnelly and Mrs. Baxter the student may have his choice of French, Latin, or Spanish. They put the language into practice through the writing and putting on of plays. Students have the opportunity to participate in either the Modern Language or Latin Club.

Homemakers Improve Skills

Homemaking classes for the 1969-1970 school year were most exciting. Everyone worked hard to get assignments done and in on time.

Mrs. Collins' first semester classes worked on foods. They prepared traditional Thanksgiving menus, Christmas dinners, and everyday meals. The girls enjoyed coming up with unusual dishes.

Good turkey and dressing headed the list, and always mashed potatoes and gravy.

Attitudes among the girls were excellent; altogether they promise to shape into outstanding futures.

Working together seemed to be their policy with everyone getting the job done. Some prepared the meals; others served, and the remaining cleaned up.

Most meals were prepared a day ahead of time, and then the next day it was ready to pop in the oven to be cooked for delightful eating. For most of the girls, the greatest thrill was eating what they had prepared.

"Off by a hair," says Mr. Webber as he checks over a student's project.

"Add a finishing touch to your project," says Mr. Diener.

One wrong line can ruin a drawing, as Mr. McClure points out.

Industrial Art Develops Skills

Industrial arts develop skills which can be used in the student's present and future life. Not only skills are developed in industrial arts, but also good work habits, creative thinking, and responsibility.

Industrial Arts is divided into three courses: metal, wood work, and drafting. After a student has satisfactorily completed work in any one of these courses, he may take an advanced course of the same subject.

During the past year, many students participated in metal work, wood work, and drafting. In metal work class, the students learned about the different types of metal and how to use it. Creative thinking was put to action by students in wood work class. Drafting class gives students a background for engineering study. In the advanced course of drafting, students are given a choice of participating in either architectural or mechanical drafting.

Adjusting a lathe requires precision under the watchful eye of Mr. Priefert.

Technique of layout is stressed by Mr. Eckhoff to his students.

Concentration is only part of the game.

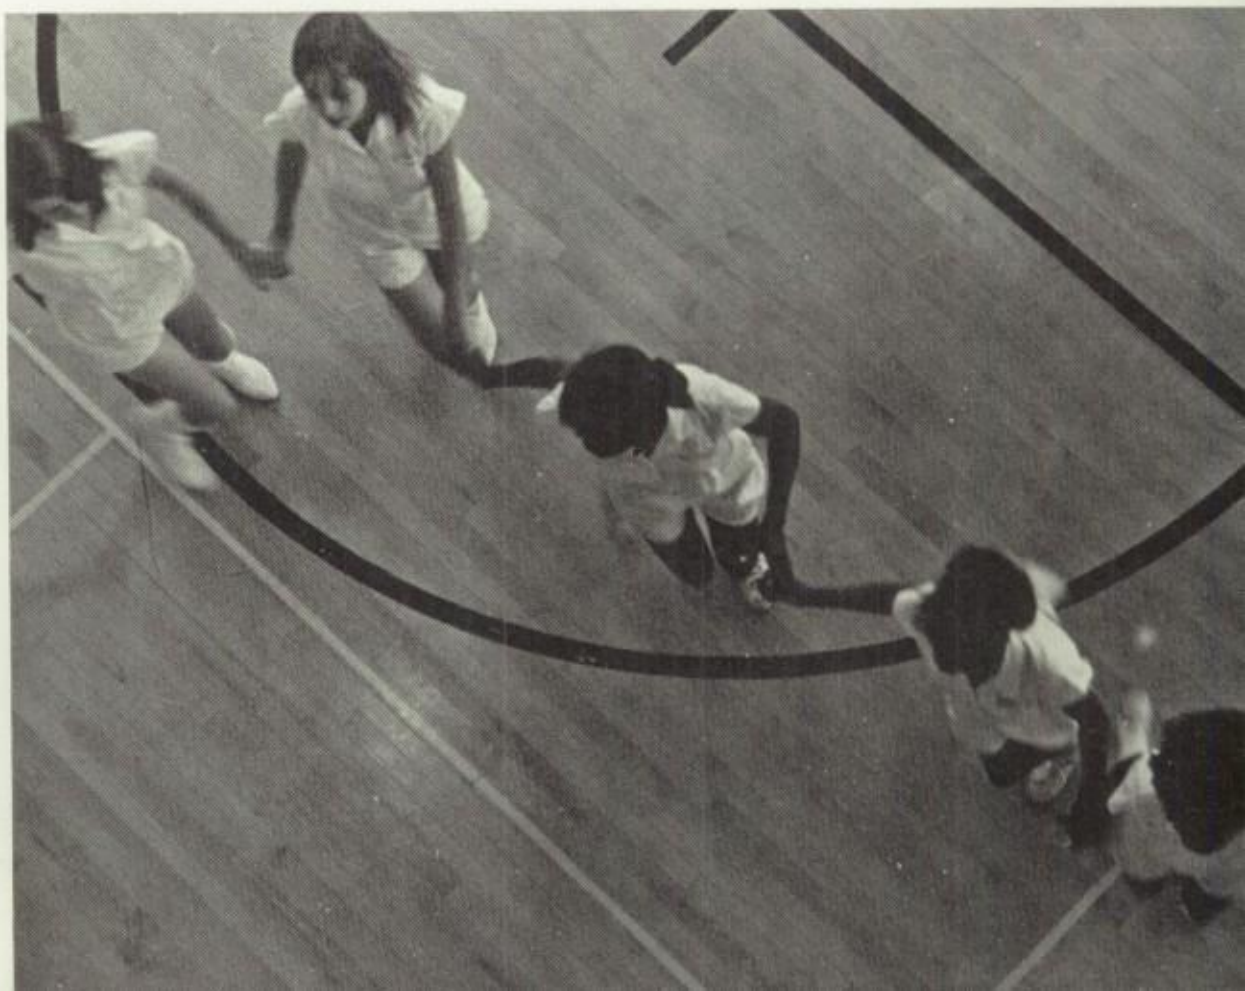
"Hit the ball, not my foot."



This year even Boy's Physical Education was seeing changes with the addition of Mr. Robert Nelson and Mr. Gwynne Coomes to the staff of Mr. Les Fields and Mr. Virland Harris.

Calisthenics, football, swimming, and basketball during Boy's Physical Education class were of greater importance to the boys because of the lack of extra curricular sports.

Physical Education has proven to be an asset to a well-rounded life.

The boys make the last minute preparation to demonstrate their physical abilities.

Students respond to one of their favorite subjects, geography, being taught by Miss Wilson.

Miss Landis, special education teacher, takes roll.

Students seem to enjoy Mrs. Morian's lectures on geography.

Many students have worked under the watchful eyes of Miss Harrison.

In the eighth grade common learning's classes the subfreshmen review and learn the fundamentals of English and history. Regulating work habits, punctuality, and self control are also sought in this required subject. This course is to aid the student in his remaining years of education by adapting him to his new high school environment.

This year we have eight teachers in the field who work along with other staff members in a continuous effort to help these students.

Thoughtfully, Mr. Robinson plans out a day's work for his class.

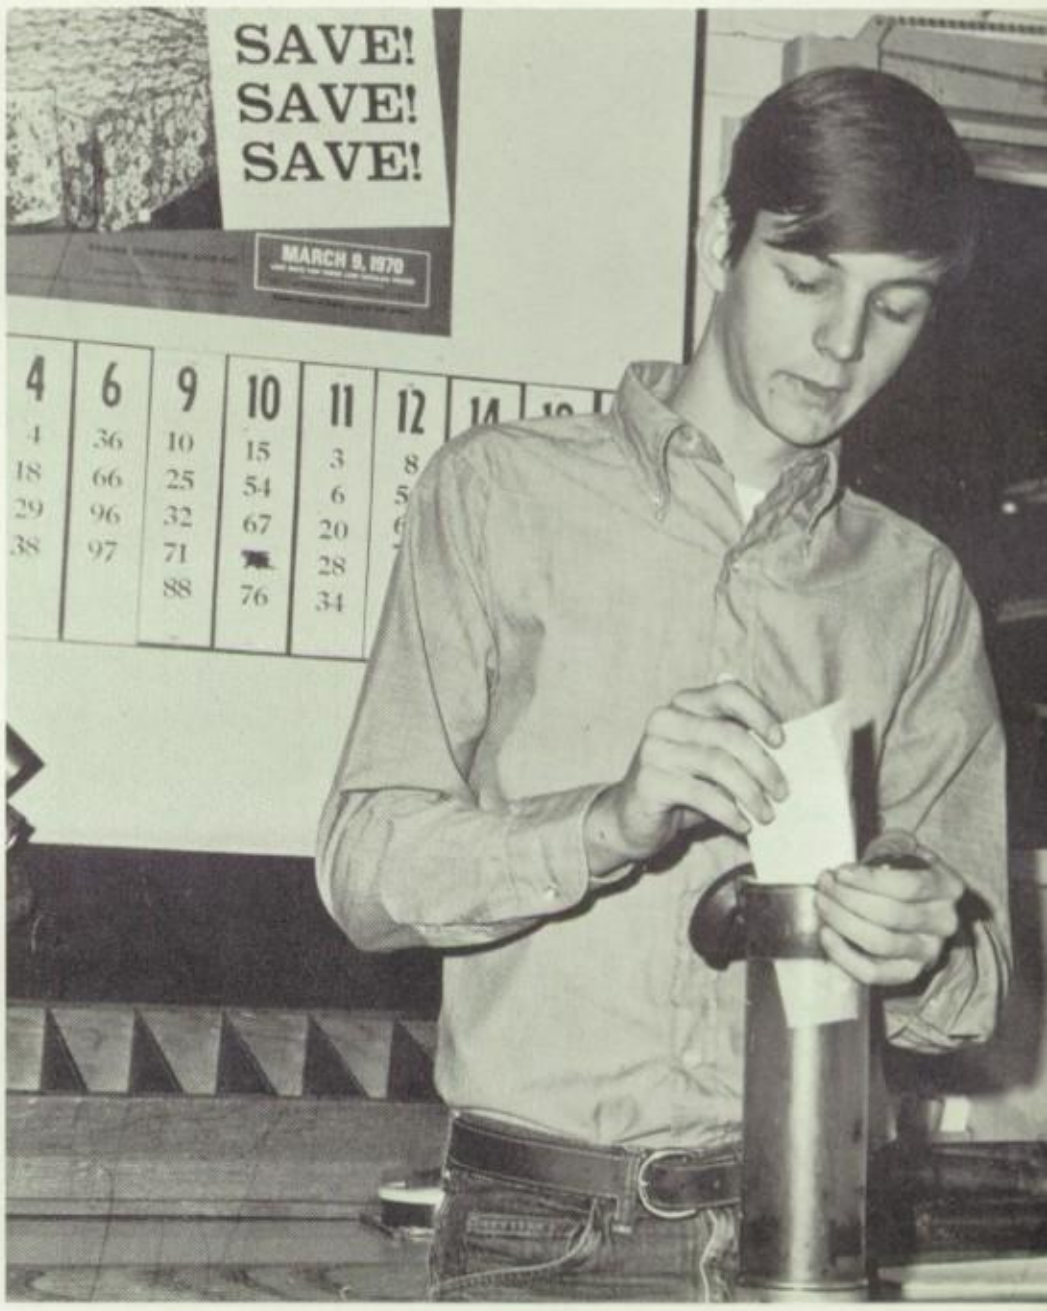
C.O.E. Pays Off in Money and Grades

Learning to develop responsibility, adjust to new people and surroundings, and get to work on time, are some of the practices of Mr. Galler's Cooperative Occupational Education classes. This course has had exceptionally large enrollment this year with about 83 students participating. It is designed to help the student financially while working to prepare him for his future.

To qualify for the class, a student must have enough credits in his senior year to graduate in order to shorten his school day program. The classes vary from the morning classes for those who work in the afternoon, to afternoon classes for those who work in the morning.

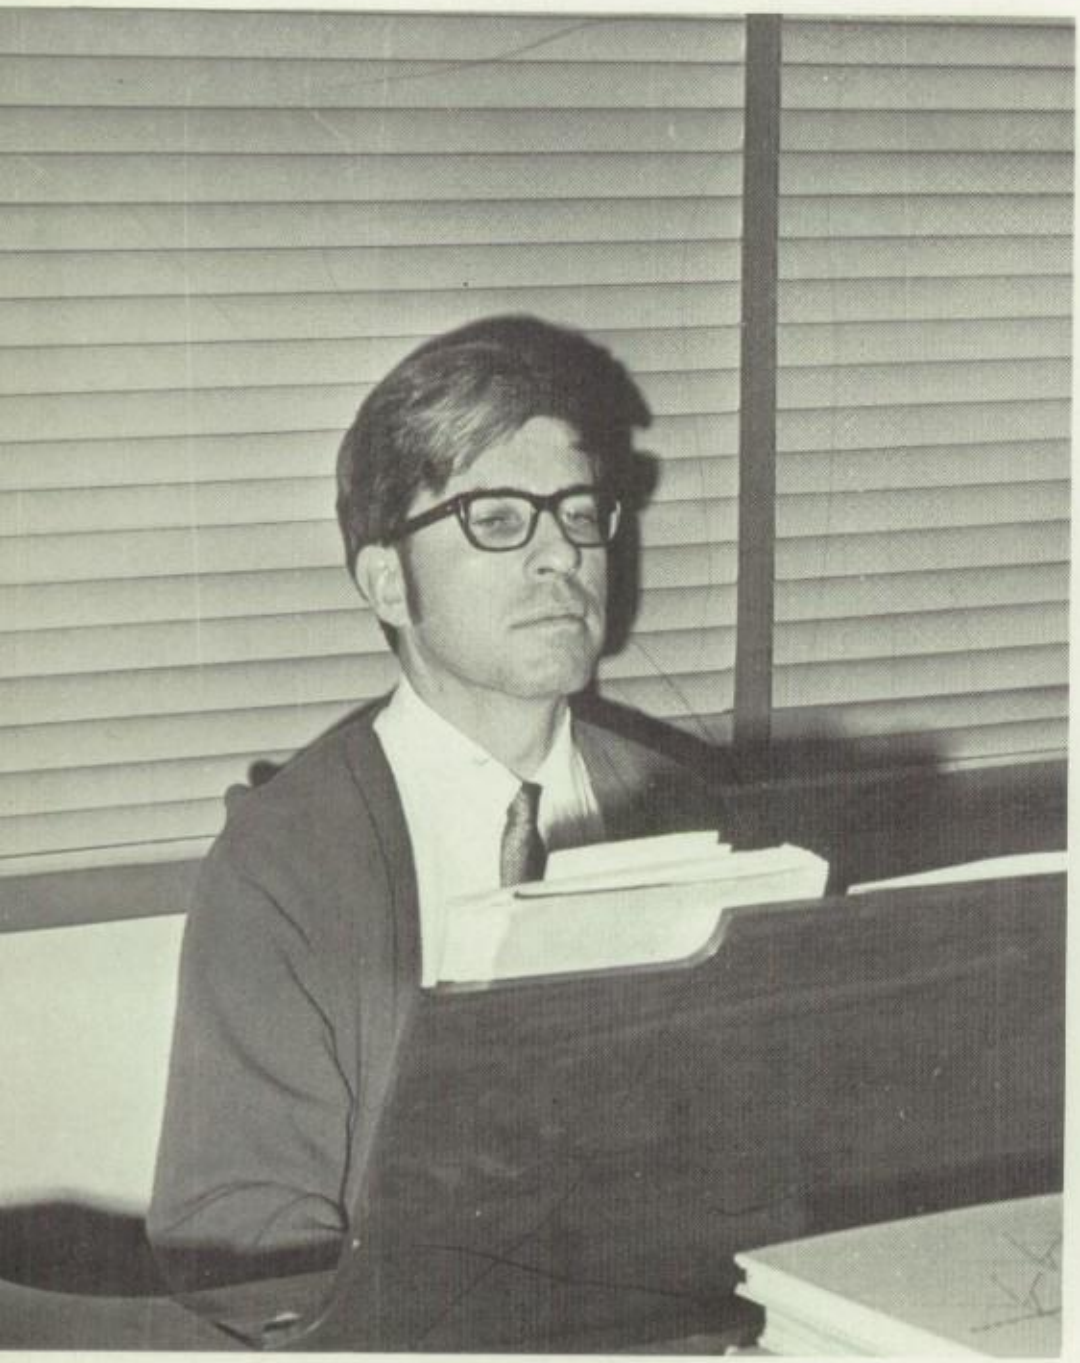
For those students planning to go to college, C.O.E. is a valuable course because it helps the student to maintain a steady schedule in working after school, between classes, or before school.

Nevertheless, for the career types that find college is not their thing, the C.O.E. class aids in insuring a student a full time job after graduation.



Band director Mr. Sell works his people hard but it pays off.

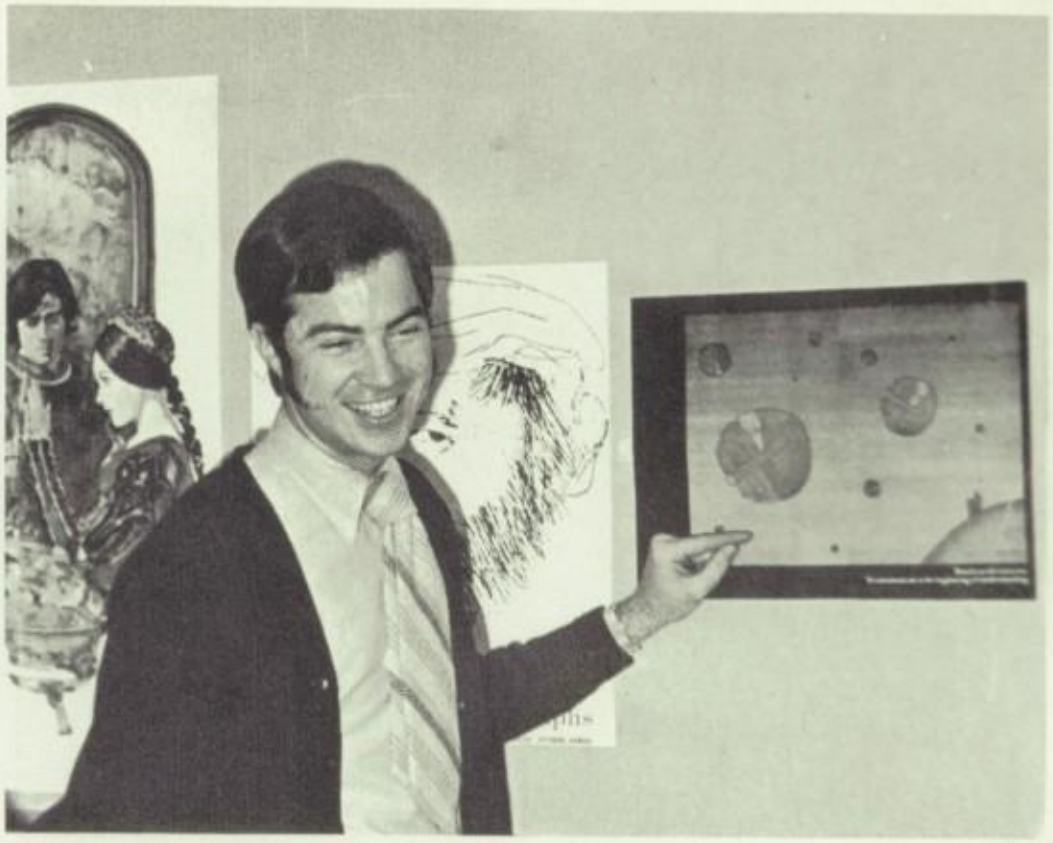
Fine Arts, what does that make you think of, classical music, poetry, painting? How about skill? Skill is what it takes to do the job. You can have all the inspiration in the world but unless you have skill you're nowhere. Mr. Sell, Mr. Kim, and Mrs. LaFayette offer courses in vocal and instrumental music. Mrs. Bradford, Miss Chapman, Mr. Smith, and Mr. Ryan have art courses in the more solid art forms.



That piano-playing music teacher "does it" to his eighth-graders.

Buried beneath paper-work and song books Mrs. LaFayette struggles on as a valiant lady would.

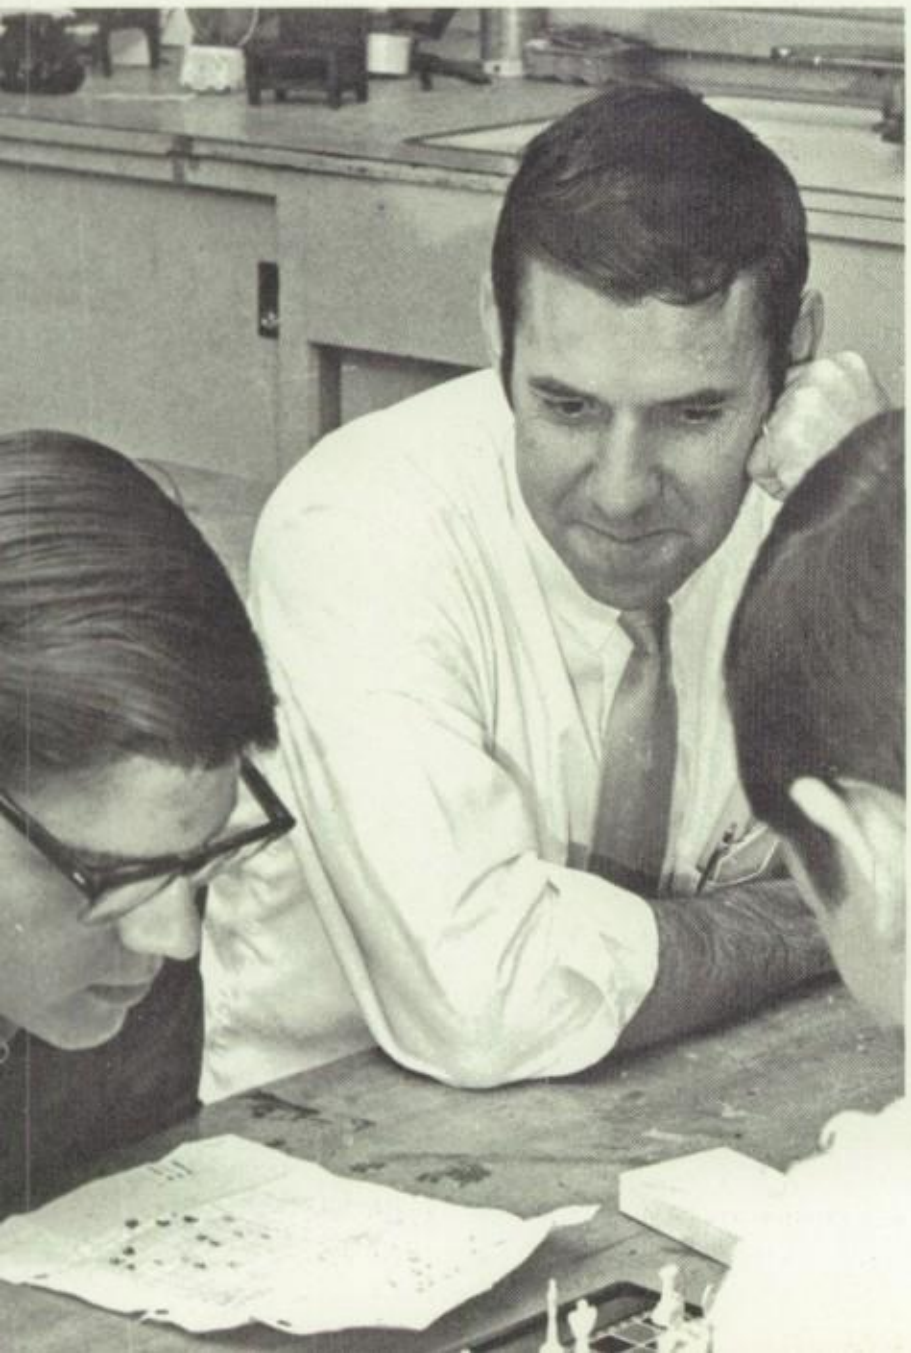
Chess is art too, Mr. Ryan says.



Did somebody make a joke about your poster again Mr. Smith?

Fine Arts Develop Talents

Art comes very close to coming alive with Miss Chapman's help.

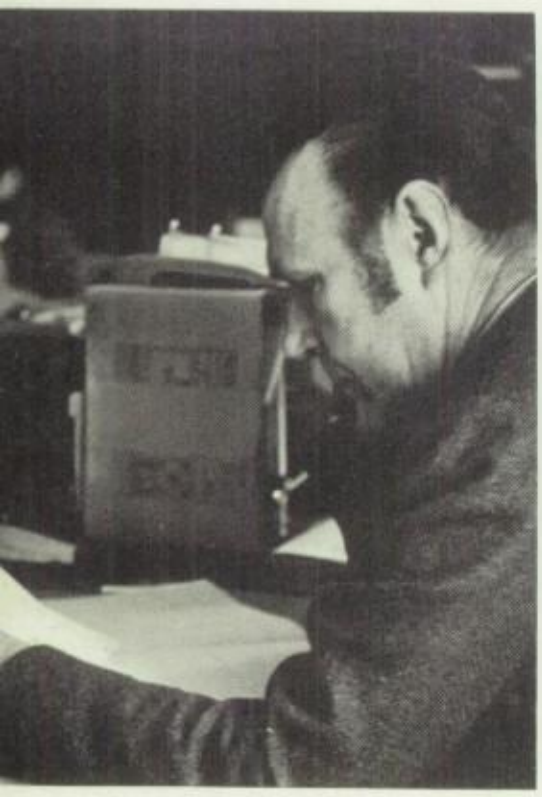


Cleaning up after her classes seems to be Mrs. Bradford's main duty.

Vocations of Faculty Vary

While teaching shorthand, Mrs. Haverstic keeps a smile.

As a typing teacher, Mr. Denton concentrates on some personal typing of his own.



Before starting class, Mr. Benson checks the absence list.

Preparing letters for mailing to school board members, Mrs. McKanna practices her own typing.

Pausing to talk with a student, Mrs. Barr takes time out from her music.

Adjusting equipment for his students, Mr. Klapis readies his Horticulture class.

Initiating a new course, Mr. Blue teaches Negro History.

Orientees During Rush

Literary societies were formed to promote literary experience in a social background. East has five societies which participate in school and club functions. Most important is the literary contest in which the clubs are judged on their best works in oral and written.

Another club activity is the initiation. Twice a year the clubs are allowed to increase their membership by inviting students to join. Teas, potluck, and sister-brother dinners line the week for orientation.

King and Queen Mixer offers an extra highlight during second semester. Orientees provide the entertainment along with the crowning of the king and queen of hearts which are nominated a week preceding by the clubs.

Under the leadership of President Jan Sullivan, Student Council had many new changes this year. Among the changes was the way in which representatives were chosen. Rather than elected by popularity, students had to petition in order to be placed on the ballot. This system of election showed that candidates had enough enthusiasm to work for their office. Also Student Council sponsored their first successful Homecoming Dance since 1966. December 23, the traditional Christmas Dance was held.

Montage

For the second consecutive year, the East High publications staff, advised by Mr. Prewitt, has added still another publication to its traditional two.

The Montage, this year was edited by Susan Hayes, and assisting editor, Cathy Yeager, who led many hard-working students making the magazine a success. Although a lot of worthwhile efforts was put into this magazine, more has actually resulted of it by the eagerness of its readers to consume its contents. This statement makes all the time and effort seem worthwhile.

With these thoughts in mind, the purpose of the Montage has been fulfilled for it provides an outlet for artistic, photographic, and literary, expression by the students of East. Undoubtably, the Montage will become as traditional a publication as the Eastonian and Echo.

The East Echo

With the "click" of the typewriter, and the threat of a deadline hovering over their heads, the Echo staff members have completed their 16 semi-monthly issues of the paper.

Under the leadership of Mr. William K. Prewitt, sponsor; first semester editors Ida Huff and Debi Kretzschmer; and second semester editor Jamie Orndorff, the staff strove to produce an accurate newspaper for the student body in the best journalistic style possible.

Red Cross Accomplishes Worthwhile Goals

Mr. Denton
Sponsor

Pat Lynn
President

The Red Cross, under the direction of Mr. Leslie Denton, accomplished many worthwhile goals. The Red Cross sent packages to Vietnam for the men, fed a destitute family during Christmas, and made the student body aware of the accomplishments of the Senior (or Adult) Red Cross. The organization also pushed money collecting for various causes.

Boosting the spirit of East this year was Pep Club arrayed in its new attire. This year's outfits consisted of a green jumper trimmed in white, a white turtleneck, and black and white saddle oxfords.

Pep Club memebership was approximately 30 girls this year trying to fulfill their purpose of supporting pep assemblies and strengthening school spirit by attending the sports activities.

During the summer, the varsity squad went to the N.C.A. camp where they won in competition two outstanding ribbons and one excellent. Both squads have worked hard to ignite the flame of school spirit and for their effort, a small flicker has risen into a blaze. "So let's hear it for our squads!"

The 1969-70 school year's Modern Language club was made up of twenty-five students who have studied or are now studying French or Spanish. These students meet every other Tuesday after school in room 215 to plan group activities and further their knowledge of their second language.

The Modern Language club members and their invited guests enjoyed several evenings of fun and frolic.

Bears Den

Every Thursday night Teentown is held at Minute Circle Friendly House, 24th and Elmwood. Teentown is open to all East students, so they can dance to a live band and just have fun with their friends. Rules and ideas for Teentown are made up by a Bears Den Committee with the help of Mrs. Flo Brown, Minute Circle advisor.

This year at the annual Snowball Dance Debi Kretzschmer was crowned Snowball Queen. Her attendants were Karyn May, Jane Donahue, and Alice Nirschl.

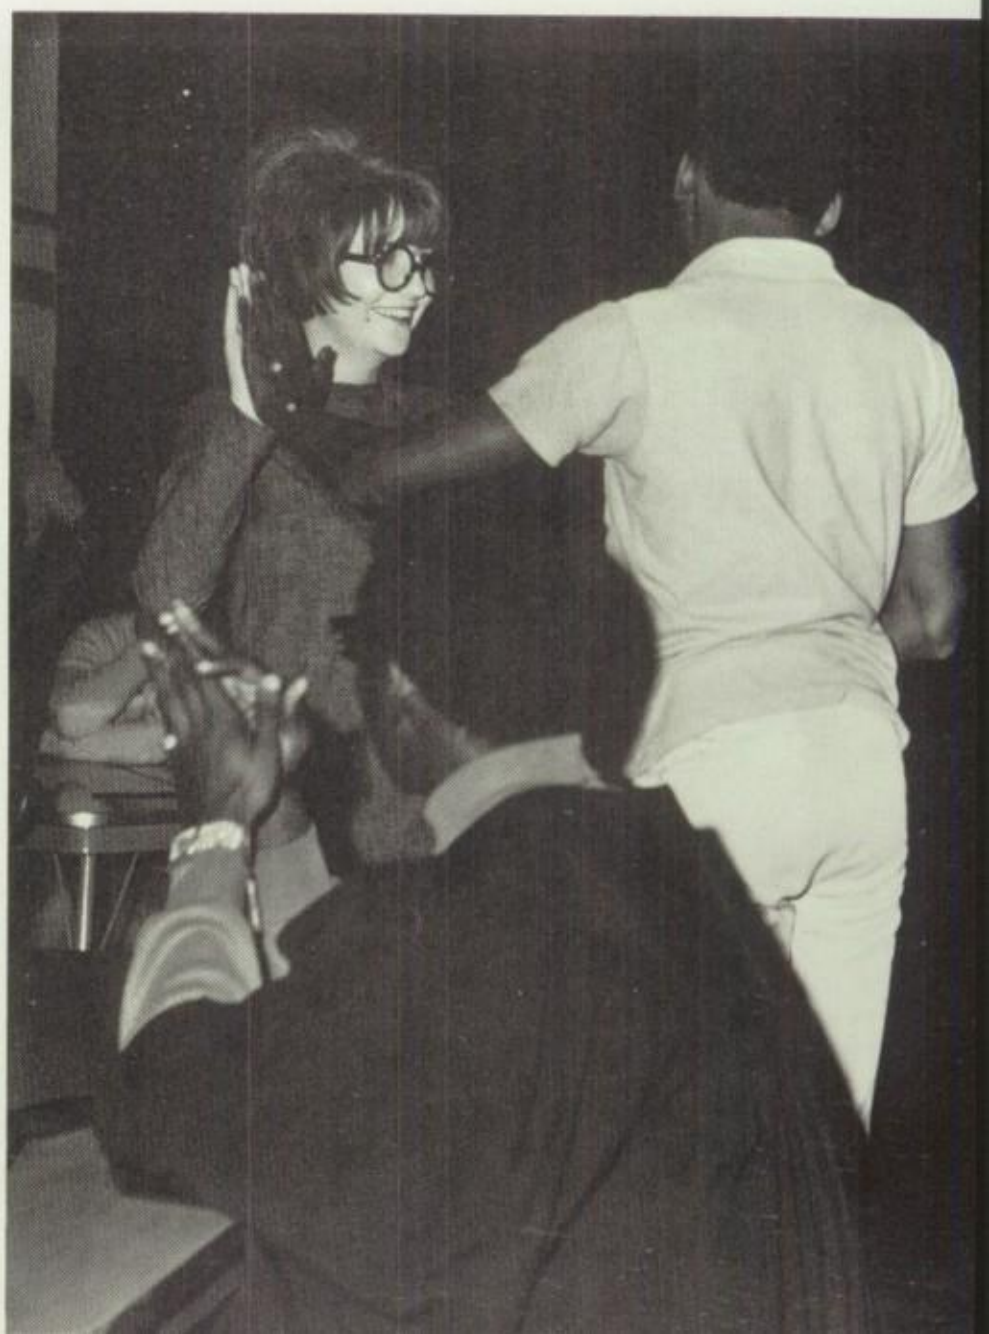
A shot taken backstage of one of the bands before the Outburst.

Smiling brightly, Mrs. Tanner displays her gift of appreciation from the performers.

Taken from the skit, Sweet Roberta vs Terrible Tanner, Rhonda Ritter is being sworn in.



Bits of Soul Bring Success to 1969 Outburst

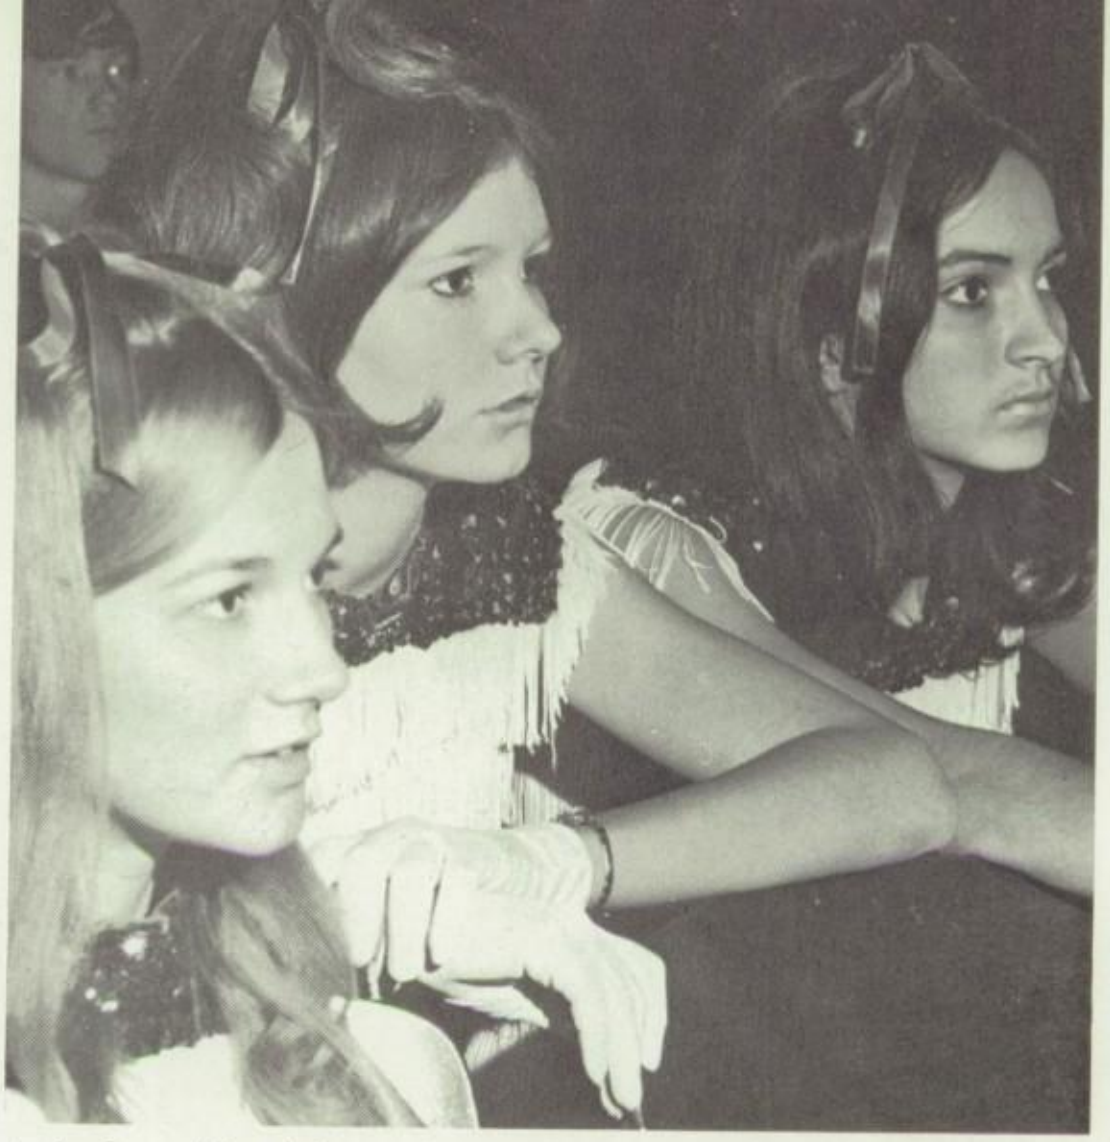
On November 21, during regular school time, the 1969 Outburst was presented. The theme chosen this year was, "Soul City U.S.A."

The show began with the Master and Mistress of Ceremonies, Steve Zahner and Pam Jones. It was their job to announce the acts and carry on the show while props were being arranged. At 2:15, the curtains rose with the band, "A Change of Times," singing Midnight Hour. This number was just enough to start the snapping of fingers and clapping of hands to the musical rhythm.

Besides the mood of "soul," the scene was changed to a romantic mood with the help of vocal solos such as For Once In My Life, and To Sir With Love. The ROTC drill squad set a touch of pride to the audience as they marched across stage. Line dances such as Medley In Blue and A Flash of Green were very interesting and never boring.

The Outburst was given more variety with the performance of instrument solos of accompaniment of the piano, organ and guitar. To end the Outburst a solemn mood was given to the audience by choral reading, poetic verses telling of the Freedom in America.

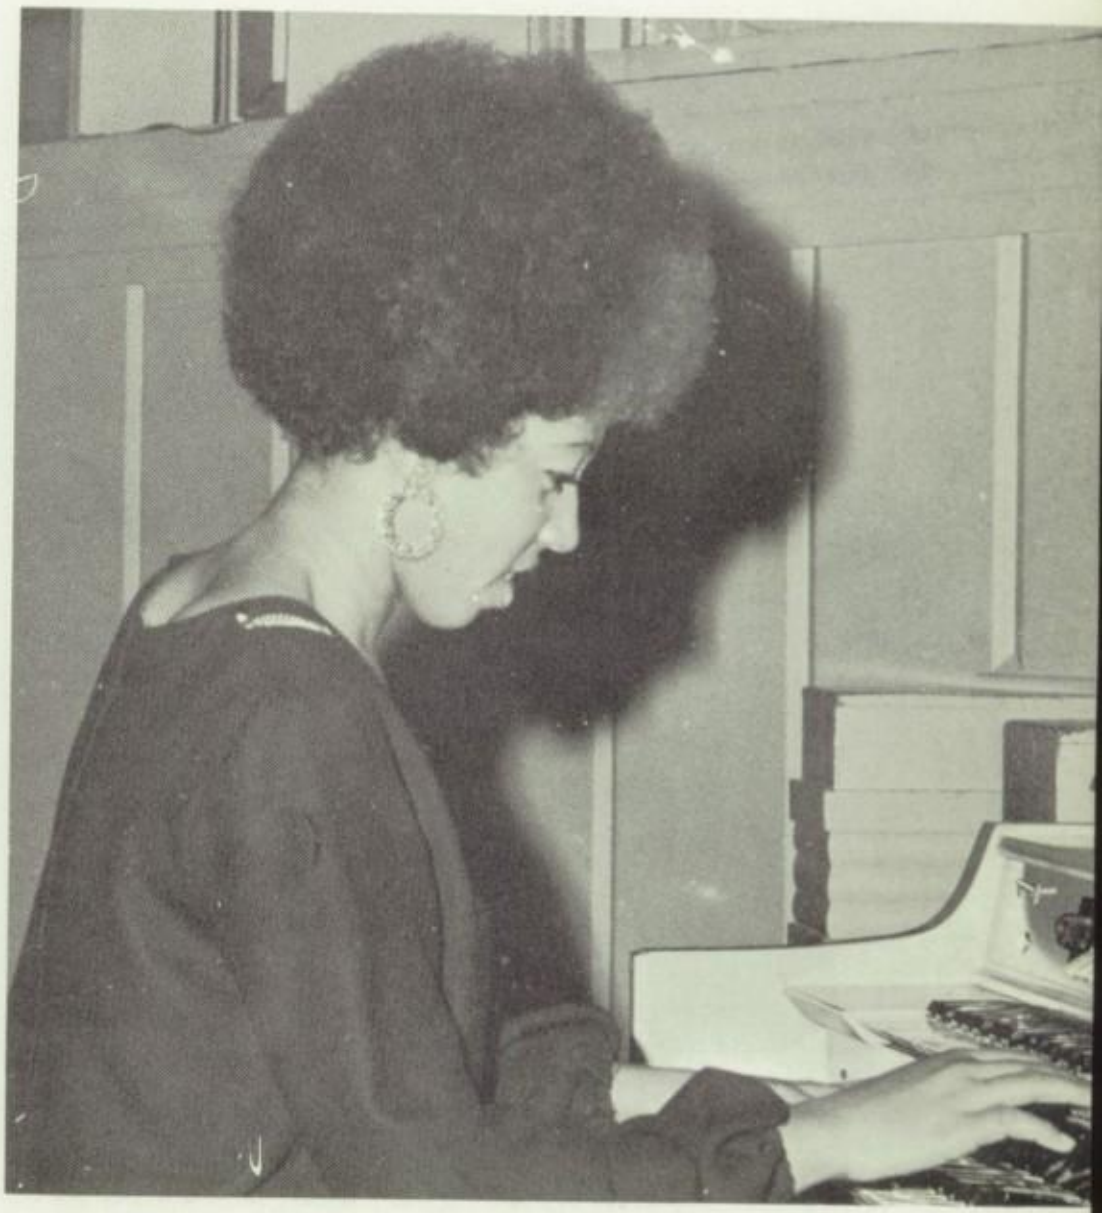
So ended another successful variety show which is beginning to be a traditional happening.



Anxiously awaiting their turn during dress rehearsal, are Glenda Buhr, Rhonda Murphy, and Debi Miller.

With thundering feet and coordination the ROTC drill team put on an impressing performance.

Concentrating on her fingers, Erma Stephenson is shown playing the organ.

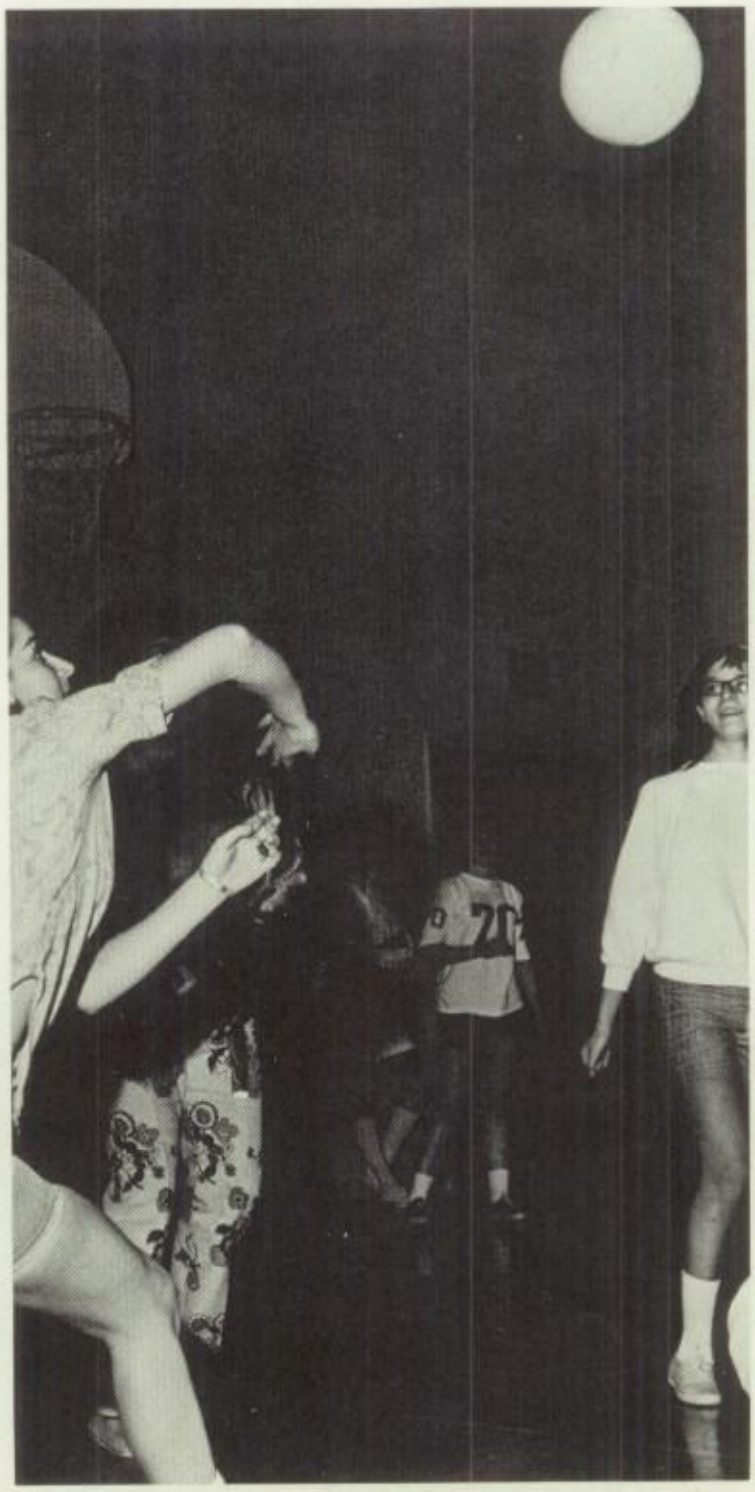


Athenians Lead Girls' Sports

Spirited young ladies dashed through the evening, displaying their athletic abilities. Basketball games, Volleyball games, and car washes were just a few of the activities that made the days end with tired bodies and happy faces.

To be eligible, you must have participated in a sportsday activity, have earned an intramural shield, and hold an M or above grade average.

The club was established to keep the girls physically fit by participating in varieties of vigorous sports and yet keep their femininity.



"Around the World in Eighty Days" was the theme chosen for the annual swim show in April sponsored by the Sea Nymphs.

The swim club spends the entire year devoting all their efforts into producing a large production.

Band and Orchestra Work Together

For the 23rd year, the band and orchestra was again directed by Mr. Marion Walter Sell.

The band had a very busy season this year, having marched at almost all of the football games, and representing East proudly at the American Royal Parade. During the Christmas season, the concert band played concerts at the surrounding elementary schools.

The instrumental music department had a fund raising project this year to purchase a banner which will be carried in front of the band in future years.

The orchestra, due to lack of size, spent most of the year improving. The orchestra is looking forward to a better season with many new members next year.

Corp of Cadets—1970

For the 4th year cadets in R.O.T.C., this year brings to an end a four year association with Mr. V. O. Taylor, who also is completing four years at East High. In this period, Mr. Taylor molded boys into mature cadets, and guided them from a dwindling few to one of the best in the city.

This year, the East High battalion was under the leadership and guidance of Cadet Lt. Col. Marvin Miller. With the assistance of his staff he accomplished most of his goals for the year.

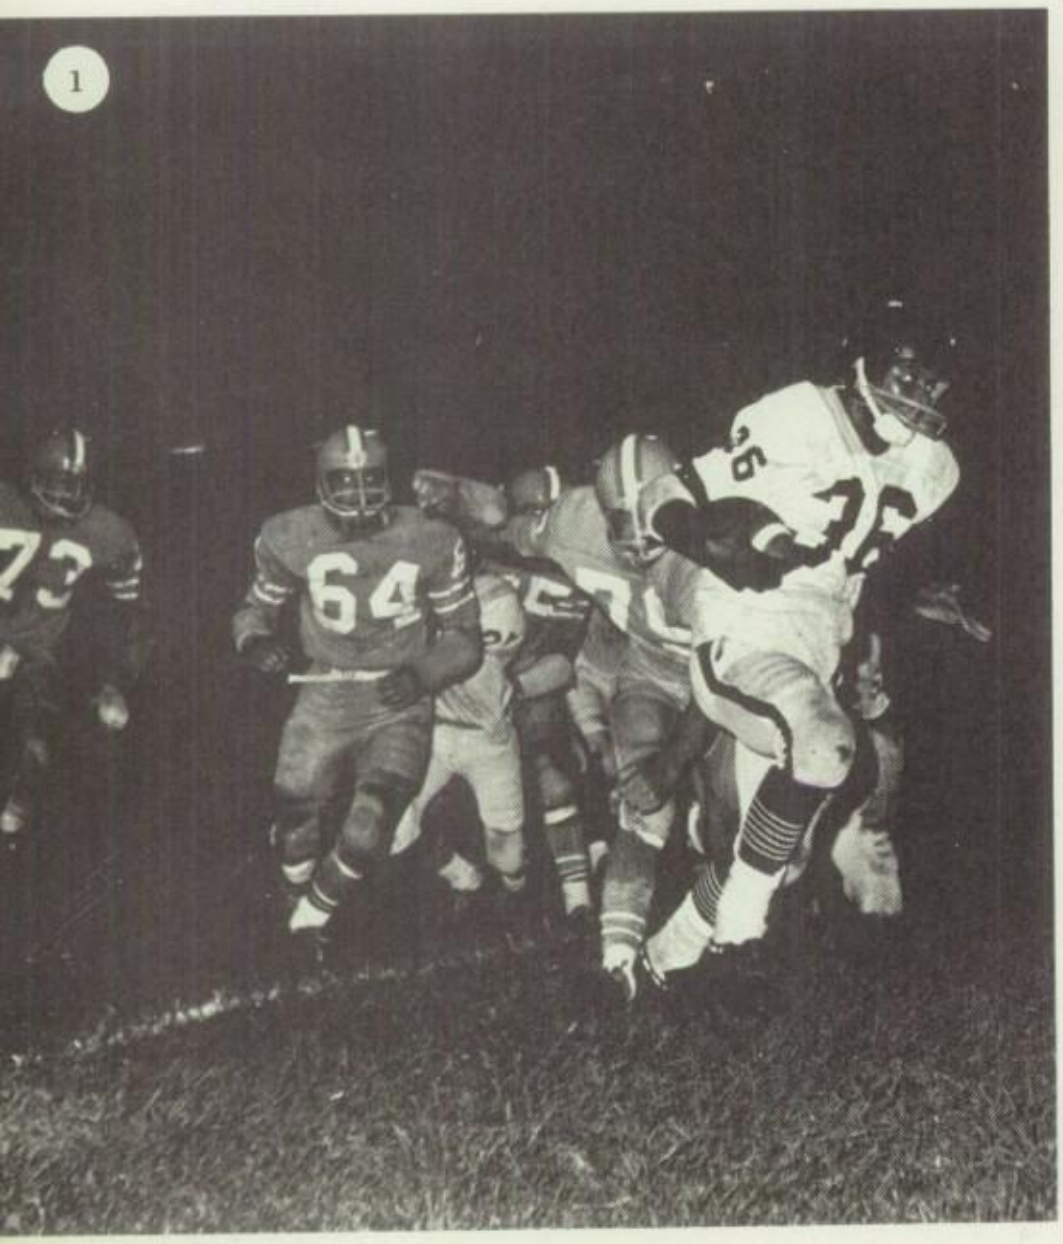
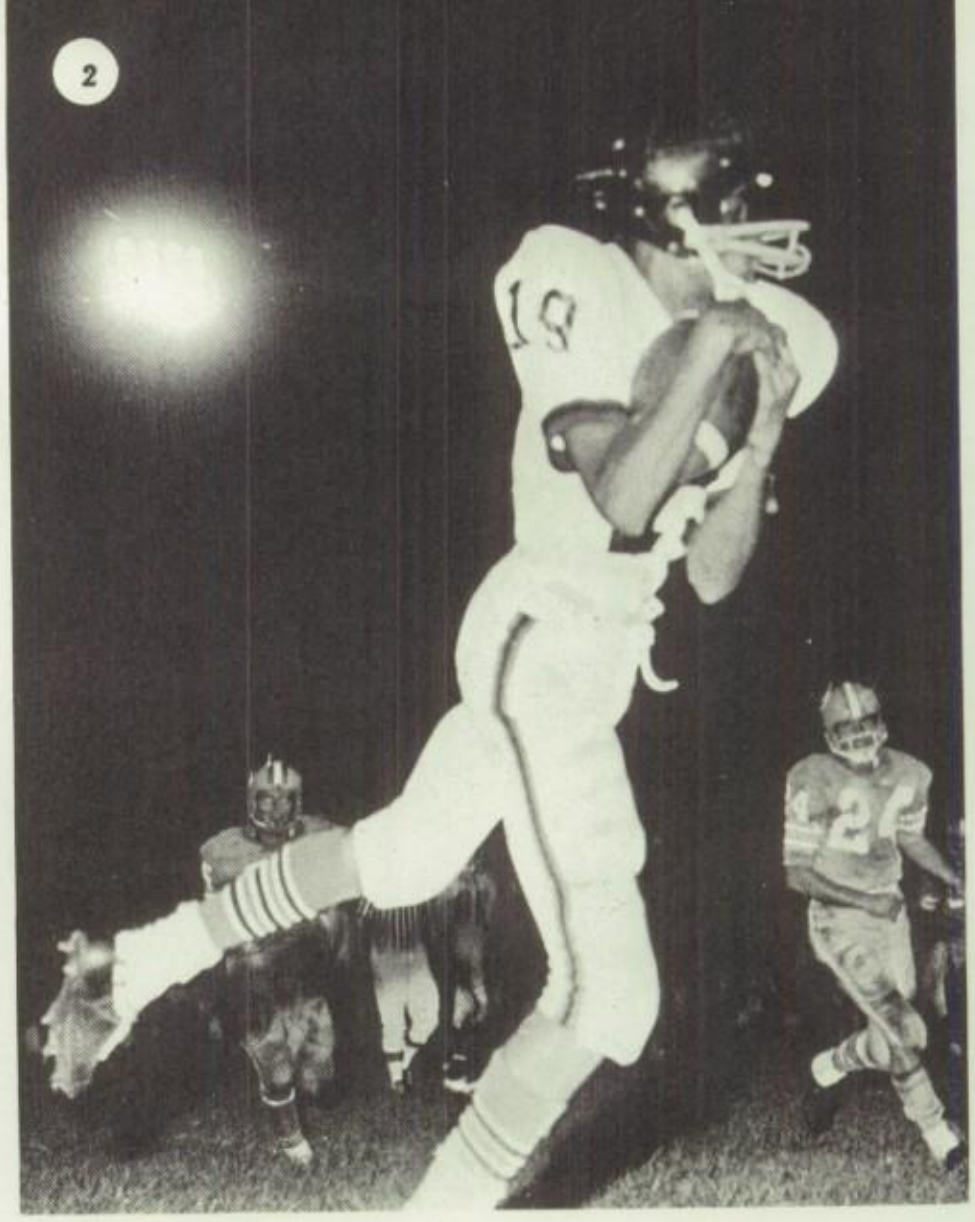
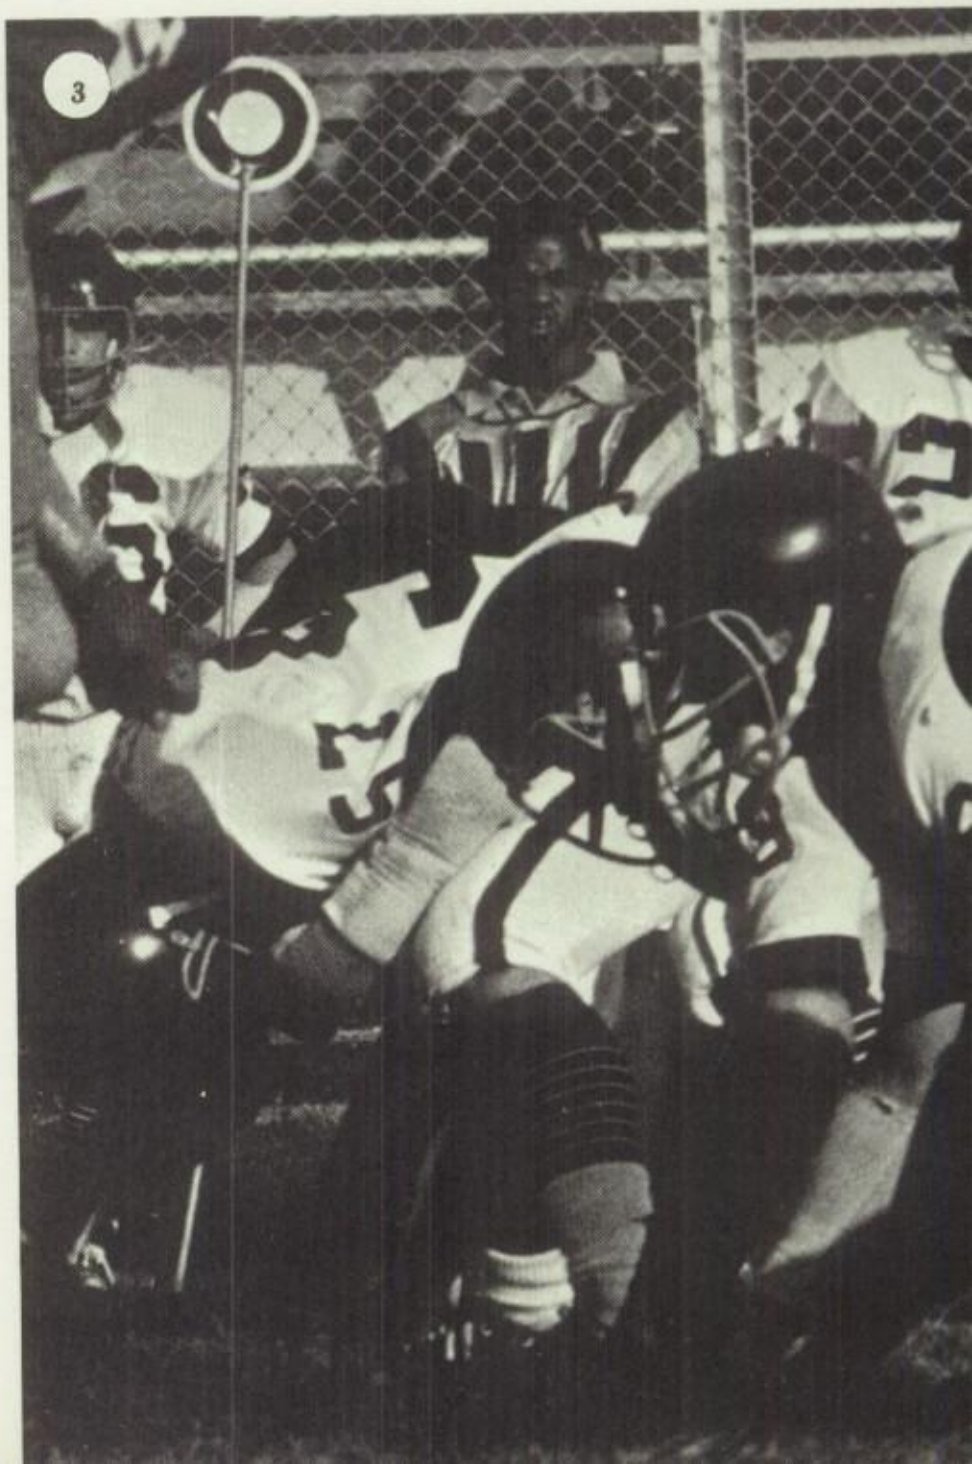
Clinton 11







The East Bears opened their season September 12 by meeting the Grandview Bulldogs in an exhibition match. The Bears managed several drives but the inexperienced Cubs failed to score. When the game was over, Grandview had two touchdowns and a 12-0 score.

The following week, East traveled to Clinton, Mo. only to be shut out by the Cardinals 11-0.

East 0
Southeast 34

The hungry Bears headed to Southeast meeting the Knights on September 26. East fumbled away two quick touchdowns to Southeast. The Bears failed to even move for a first down during the opening half as the Knights continued to roll up 34 points. In the second half, both teams played evenly with neither scoring. Despite the losing exhibition season, the Bears anxiously awaited their season games.

1. "Grace" cuts through the line for a good gain.
2. Campbell makes one of the many catches that night.
3. The big line.
4. Southeast is stopped.
5. Eads zeros in to help Kessler.

East 6
Northeast 20

On October 4, the Bears opened league play meeting the Vikings of Northeast. East first scored on a 58 yard Larry Henderson run. The Bears had another touchdown called back as Northeast took a 7-6 half-time lead. The heavily penalized Bears could score no more as the Vikings pushed over twice more for a 20-6 win. Henderson finished the game with 117 yards rushing.

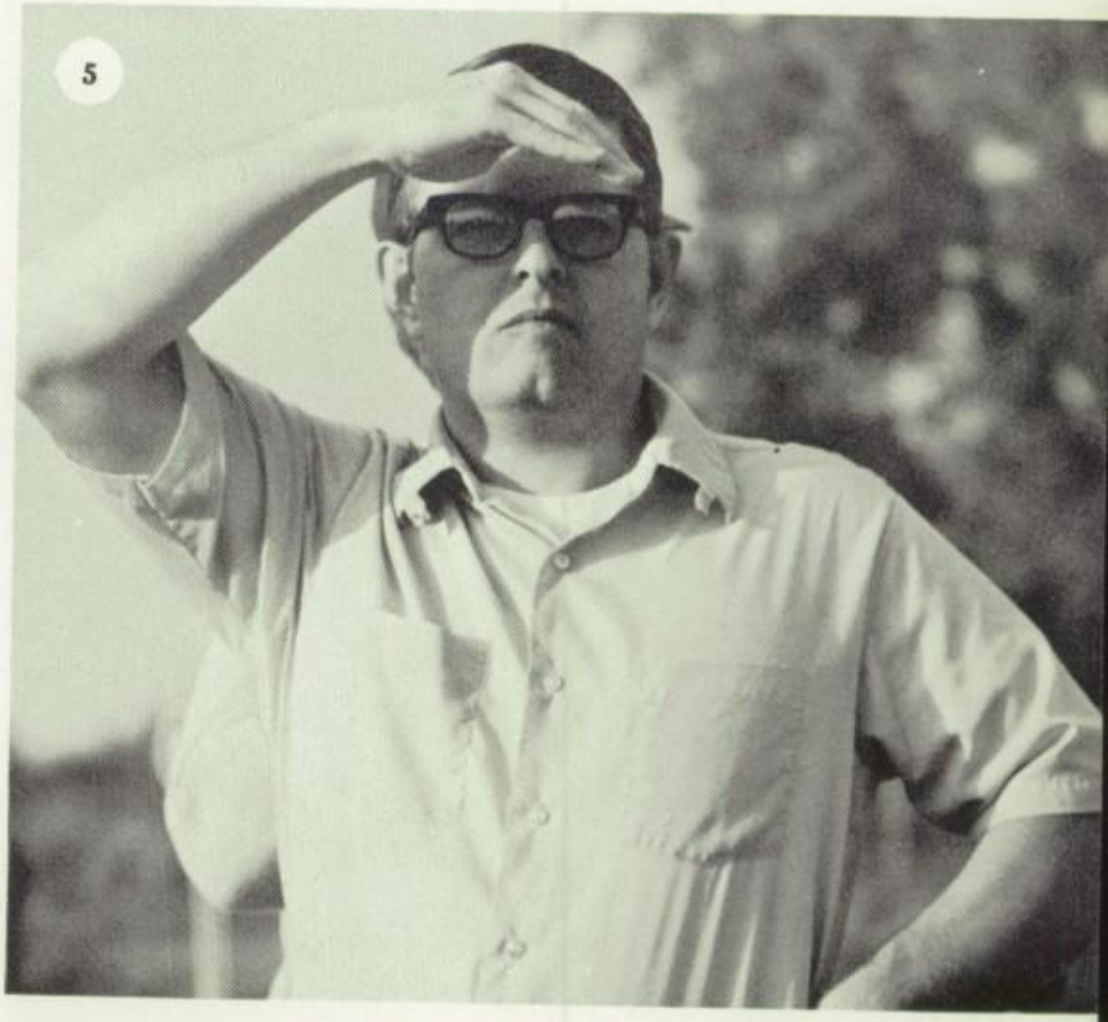
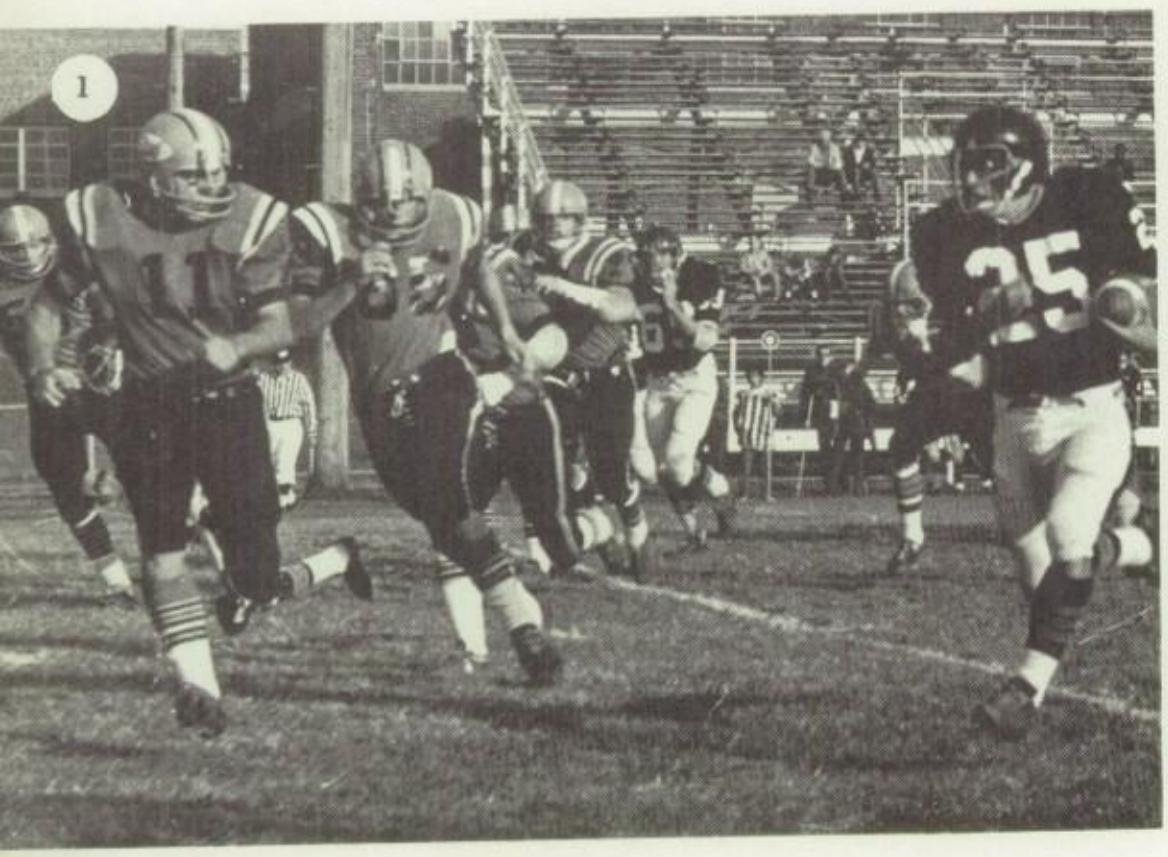
Westport 34

October 13 saw the East Bears meet Westport. The red-hot Tigers were not detoured by the freezing weather. Westport pushed over five first half touchdowns on the faltering Bears. East moved to within eight yards of a score led by quarterback Tom Robinson and running back Larry Henderson. But the Bears failed to earn any points as they fell, 34-0.



1. Kenneth is hit from behind.
2. Henderson goes 58 yards for a T.D.
3. Clardie is about to be stopped, but soon enough.
4. Westport is halted at the line.
5. A look of disgust.

East 6
Southwest 55



On October 17, Southwest met the Bears. East twice drove near the goal, but came up empty handed. The Indians were more successful and rolled up a 21-0 lead. In the second half, the Bears scored when quarterback Tom Robinson passed for 70 yards down to the 10 yard line. Larry Henderson accounted for East's six points. Southwest continued their conquest until the closing seconds and made off with a 55-6 win.

1. Yager goes around end for first down.
2. With tackler behind him, Henderson moves on down field.
3. Robinson gives to Henderson on a quick opener.
4. Robinson fades for another pass.
5. Curt centers to Robinson.

East 0
Lincoln 42

October 25, 1969 was the date of a contest between the Lincoln Tigers and the East Bears. In the first half the Bears showed power on several plays driving to the Lincoln 10 yard line twice. The Bears were unable to break the 10 yard line barrier. With the start of the second half, the Bears began passing, which proved no more effective, than the running-passing combination used earlier in the game. Fumbles, penalties, and intercepted passes caused East to drop another game, bringing their record to no wins and seven losses. The final tally favored Lincoln 42 to East's 0.

Central 22

The Central Eagles visited the Bears on November 1. Poor field conditions slowed the game's action. The Eagles rolled up 22 points against 6 for East. Larry Henderson moved seven yards for the Bears' only score. Centralscored their three by passing against the weak East secondary.

East 0
Manual 20

The Manual Cardinals traveled to East meeting the Bears on November 7. A first period drive carried the Bears down to the Cardinal 10 yard line where quarterback Tom Robinson suffered a shoulder injury. Manual scored twice in the closing minutes of the half. The remainder of the game was scoreless until the final three minutes when the Cardinals stung the Bears again for a 20-0 win.

1. "Rock-hands" Mason misses one.
2. Eads snatches another one.
3. Central is stopped, but not before they get a T.D.
4. Clarie goes for a long gain.
5. Yager hits a big hole up the middle.

Float Plaque Won by Eulexia

The theme "Bye Bye Birdie" was represented at half-time at the 1969-70 Homecoming game.

Student enthusiasm was quite evident in the attendance. 650-700 spectators were present.

The entertainment at half-time included floats from Leundis, Eulexia, Webster, Hamilton, and Kalailu Literary Societies, and Pep Club. Eulexia won the first-place plaque for the best float. The Homecoming queen candidates and ROTC queen candidates were presented on the field.

The annual event came to a close when the queen was presented at the successful Homecoming Dance which 300 students attended.

East Van Horn

On October 15, the Bears closed out their season with a 21-6 loss to the Van Horn Falcons. East finished with a 0-10 record and last place in the Interscholastic League. Van Horn scored first for a 7-0 halftime lead. A short punt set up more Falcon points. A Gary Yager to Mike Eklund pass was the only score the Bears could muster as Van Horn pushed for their third touchdown.

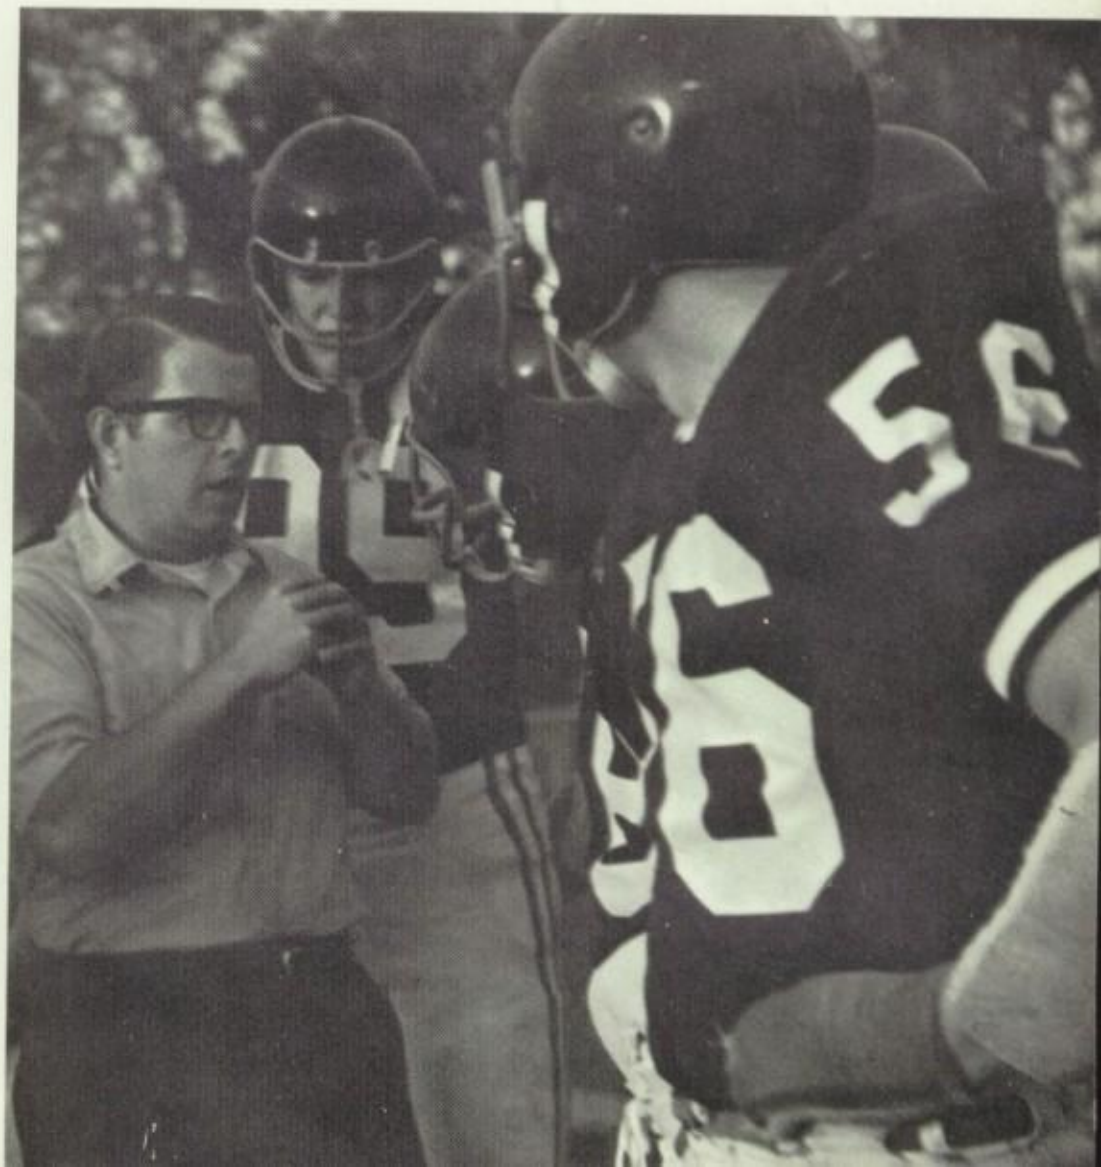
A Season Builds Firm Foundation for Young Bears

Coach Nichols sums up the season this way, "To some, this season has been a failure, but to me it has been a success. We have built a solid foundation for the next three years and have given many of our younger players a great deal of playing time which has helped them to become much better ball players. We are developing a feeling of pride in ourselves as we learn. It would not be impossible for our team to be over .500 next year and to challenge for the league lead in 1971."



Junior Varsity Finish Fine with Five Victories

The Junior Varsity finished the season with a league record of five wins against two losses. The Bears beat Northeast, Westport, and Van Horn and gained forfeits against Lincoln and Manual. East also over-took Southeast in exhibition play. Coached by R. G. Suhl, the Bears B-Team developed several prospects for next year's Varsity. Kenneth Clardie led the squad in rushing while Bret Mathews and Joe Reyes stood out on defense. Hard work paid off for the strong Junior Varsity.

This season, the Freshman squad won three games and earned a tie. Coach Levon Robinson was aided in his duties by former graduates, Ron Finley and Andrew Cunningham. The victories came against Santa Fe of Alma, Mo., Southwest, and Northeast. The Frosh played hard, spirited football and had, according to Coach Robinson, a fine season.

On Nov. 28 East started off the 69-70 Basketball season in the Thanksgiving Tournament. The game was played against Northeast. The game ended with a score of 74 to 57, Northeast the victor. The following night East played Westport only to lose in the last 20 seconds. 42-41.

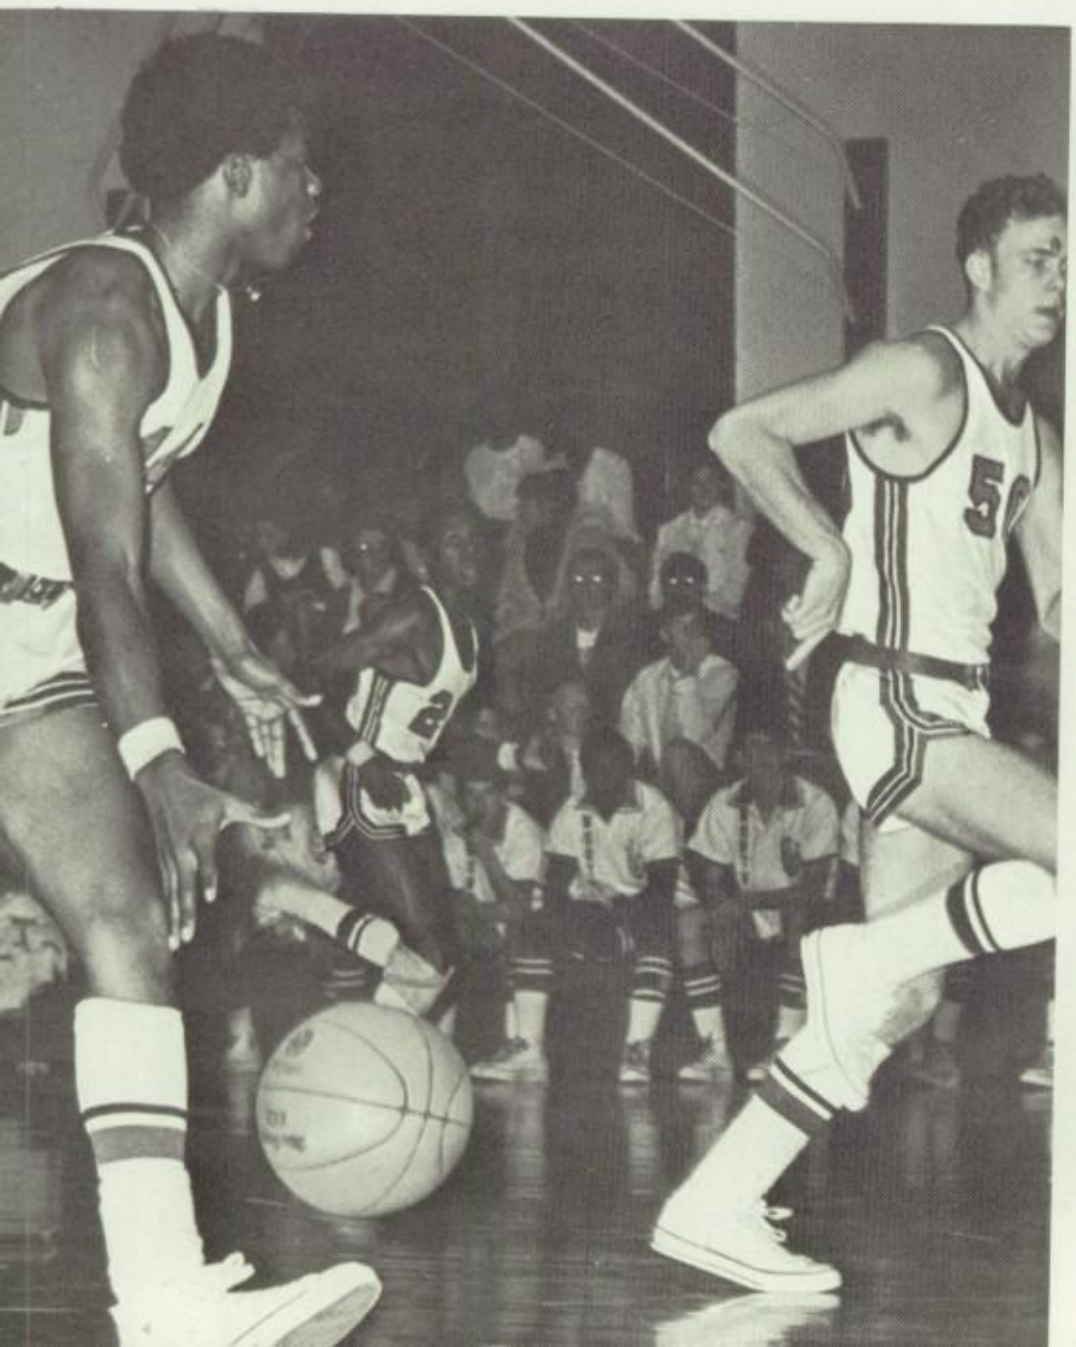
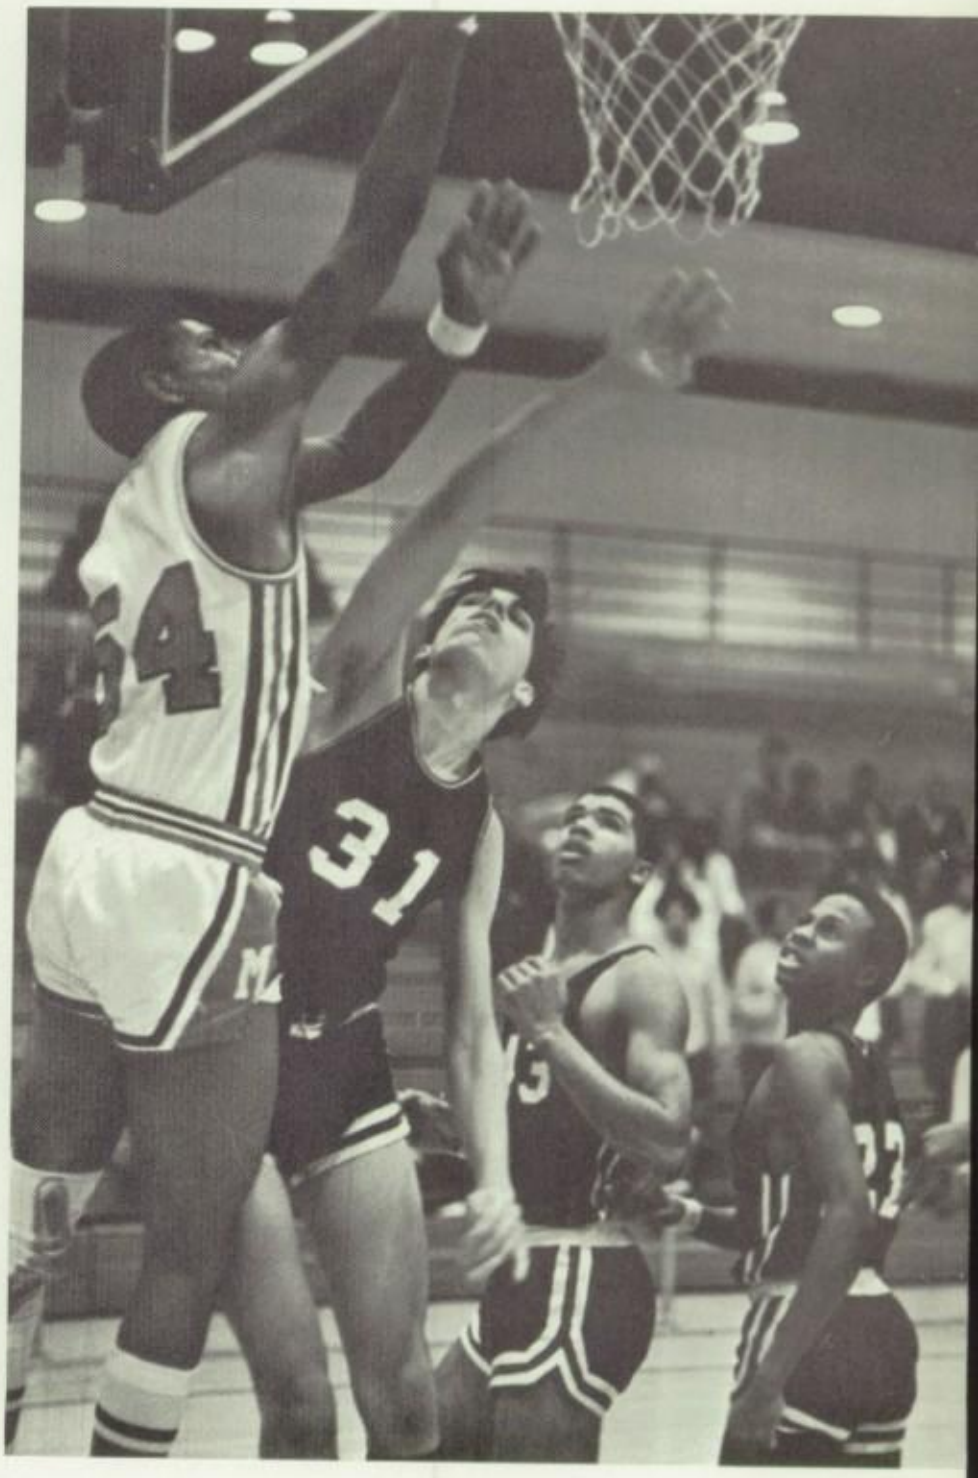
In the league opener East took the floor against Hogan at the fieldhouse only to lose by the score of 48 to 64. But not to be outplayed, the next game showed East the better team against St. Pius with a last minute win of 53-52.





East can be proud of its basketball coaches and players for their determination and "desire to win" attitude. Because of this feeling, because of the long practices and many games, because of the excellent backing of the Head Coach, Carl King, Coach Jack Smart, and Robert Nelson, East now has a strong future for most of the team is returning next year. Perhaps to some, the score of two wins and sixteen losses looks poor, but for the experience we gained, it was a cheap price.

After a four-game losing streak, the East Bears showed to be a promising team this year by defeating the St. Pius Warriors fifty-three to fifty-two.

Later on in the season, showing no mercy to the Westport Tigers', the Bears cinched the game with a sixty-six to thirty-six score.

The Bears finished the season on the losing side but not without gaining the helpful experience which will help the team in the coming years.

With six underclassmen to lead the pack next season, winning will become a reality, not just a dream.

Freshman basketball was designed to give boys the opportunity to learn about the game, and to experience competition. It is the hope of the coaches, however, that they will go on to represent East more in either varsity or junior varsity depending on their ability.

This year the freshman team, coached by Robert Nelson won 5 out of 11 games.

Junior Varsity Basketball Trains for Future

At the end of the season, the junior varsity should be proud of its 1034 points they had collected. Even though they won only 7 out of the 17 games played, it proved that they were great potential for varsity next year. With the excellent coaching of Jack Smart, and hard work and dedication from the players, East has again shown its great spirit and determination.

This year the school can be proud of our track team for they have put forth their best effort in order to compensate for the loss of their key runners.

Each night beginning before the winter holidays till the end of school these boys have sincerely practiced for the meets in both indoor and outdoor season. Although the St. Joseph and Santa Fe relays and other important meets have been canceled this year, the boys gave their all to pull East name over the line first.

As in previous years, the track team has been divided into three categories—sprinters coached by Jack Webber, field events—coached by Ron Finley, and distances—coached by Jim La Salle.

Mr. Webber, the head coach, concerning track, has been quoted to say that East has more quality in track than quantity.
